Oder Line Pierced

Berliners In Panic As Soviets Advance

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The Moscow radio said today the "Oder line has been pierced and Berlin in panic is witnessing the crumbling of the last obstacle in its forefield."

By ROBERT MUSEL
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Moscow dispatches said today that Russian forces waging a violent battle of the bridgeheads across the Oder before Berlin were developing a flanking drive to cut the Frankfurt-Berlin roads and isolate the key bastion on the west bank of the river.

The German high command said Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's assault troops had established an unspecified number of footholds on the west bank of the Oder along a 35-mile arc facing Berlin, and supplementary Nazi broadcasts reported that the Soviet bridgeheads had been widened.

A German military spokesman said the Russians had four bridgeheads over the Oder east of Berlin

FIRST IN GREECE.—Lieut. Gilbert Milne, former newspaper cameraman now in the Canadian navy, has received $200 from Con. Johnson, Greek-born Edmonton restaurant owner, who thinks Milne was the first Canadian serviceman to set foot in liberated Greece. Lieut. Milne, now home on leave, reached Athens, October 19, 1944, with a flotilla of landing craft from HMCS Prince David, two days before the main Allied liberation force. "Mr. Johnson wrote me asking if I was the first to set foot ashore," Lieut. Milne said, "I replied that I couldn't say that for sure because it was difficult to tell who was the first in the party, but I said I knew I was the first to go into Athens itself. He wrote back that he was satisfied from accounts he had received that I was the first and wanted me to take the money."

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP)—Red Army troops have captured the road junction of Kreuzberg, 13 miles south of the East Prussian capital of Koenigsberg, Moscow announced tonight. Other Russian units advancing in Pomerania captured the town of Bernstein, 39 miles south of Berlin's port of Stettin.

Yanks Kill Last Japs In North of Manila

By FRANCIS McCARTHY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—American troops killed off the last Japanese resistance in northern Manila today and loosed a heavy artillery barrage on the surviving enemy forces holed up in the blackened, burning southern half of the capital.

Vanguards of the U.S. 11th Airborne Division were cutting their way slowly into the Japanese rear from the south, but the main American forces were stalled temporarily along the north bank of the Pasig river, which bisects Manila from east to west.

American hopes for a quick thrust across the river to wipe out the surviving enemy were dashed Tuesday night when a party of Japanese sappers blew up the last of the four Pasig bridges—the Jones span leading into the old walled city.

FIGHT DEFIANTLY

Cut off from all supply and reinforcement, the Japanese still were fighting back defiantly in the southern half of the city, battling desperately to hold the 11th Airborne off their backs and hurling artillery and mortar fire across the Pasig river into northern Manila.

At the same time, Japanese demolition squads were roving wantonly through the southern city, dynamiting and burning homes and waterfront installations, even in the walled city.

Far to the north, other American forces were making good progress into the hills northeast and east of their Lingayen Gulf beachheads.

Coldwell Scores Action by Ilsley In Debt Dispute

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said yesterday in a prepared statement that the "high-handed" action of Finance Minister Ilsley of withholding from Saskatchewan sums payable under 1941 tax agreements to obtain repayment of the $16,468,852 seed grain debts was "outrageous" and "absolutely without legal authority and without moral right."

"If the federal government permits this action to stand, it will destroy any possibility of future Dominion-provincial co-operation in the field of taxation and in other fields," he said.

He was commenting on announcement Tuesday by Mr. Ilsley that pending a cash payment of $609,972 on the seed grain debt, the federal government was withholding a $582,331 payment due the province under the 1941 tax agreement when the province relinquished its right

RECENTLY HONORED.—Maj. John Harold Adams, with the headquarters staff of the 2nd Canadian Division somewhere in Holland, is a former Edmontonian recently mentioned in dispatches. An original officer of the First Bn. The Loyal Edmonton Regiment he was the first officer of that regiment to arrive overseas in 1939, preceding even the advance party of the unit. He returned to Canada in 1942 for a staff course at Kingston and upon going back overseas went on headquarters staff duties. His wife, Mrs. J. H. Adams, is in Edmonton again after residing in Cranbrook, B.C.

Montgomery's Men Ready For Attack

By BOYD LEWIS

PARIS, Feb. 8—(BUP)—More than 1,000 Allied fighters and bombers today struck through murky weather at German positions directly in front of Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Dutch salient aimed at the Siegfried line toward the open plain of northwest Germany.

Supreme headquarters sources and front dispatches revealed many signs that the northern wing of the western front was boiling up. Nazi broadcasts dwelt on Allied plans for an imminent offensive and one forecast an airborne operation on the scale of that against Holland last fall.

Amid indications of imminent big-scale action, Lt.-Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army captured the Siegfried stronghold of Schmidt and pushed on nearly a mile through easing resistance to the area of the key dam in the Roer river's flood control system.

HAMMER AT NAZIS

From Montgomery's 21st Army Group area a front dispatch said British and American bombers flew through clouds and occasional drizzles all day to hammer German communications and troop concentrations in the area east of Nijmegen, anchor base of the east wall of the salient in Holland.

At supreme headquarters correspondents were able to report that the bombing—the scope and weight of which was revealed only by the front dispatch—was dangerously close to the Allied lines—a tactical operation carried out despite unfavorable weather.

Shaef sources also revealed that the Germans, apparently on edge,

Chinese Rink Gets 5-Ender To Score Win

Mah Bow and his all-Chinese rink from Ponoka came the closest to equalling Tom Dark's eight-ender in the Alberta Curling Association's 28th annual bonspiel this morning when he counted a five against Rev. E. B. Brundage of Daysland on the 9 a.m. draw at the Royal. All 22 games on the early draw this morning were in the North West Brewery competition.

Mah Bow's five-ender came on the fifth and it was a shot by the veteran skip himself that made it possible. He was lying four when the Daysland skip drew in to count one. Mah took that one out and left his own in to score five.

ICE REMAINS GOOD

Despite the warm weather, ice at all three rinks—Royal, Granite and Alberta Avenue—was holding up well this morning and bonspiel officials were hoping that play wouldn't be interrupted.

Only one extra-end game was played in the early draw, with Bert Robinson, who went back to Jasper with three trophies from the 1942 'spiel, edging out W. Padavell of Alberta Avenue 11-10 on the 11th end at the Granite.

All four unbeaten rinks—George McLaughlin of Royal, C.

Brief Asserts:

Tax on Basis Ability to Pay Is "Disregarded"

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP)—A charge was made before the McDougall Royal Commission on Taxation of Co-operatives today that taxation on the basis of ability to pay was being "disregarded" in respect to stock and mutual insurance businesses.

It was contained in a brief presented by R. C. McKibbon of Winnipeg, president of the Insurance Agents' Association.

The economic welfare of the country is ill served by legislation and practices that discriminate between one citizen and another in the search for a livelihood, the brief said.

DESTROY OTHERS

If mutual insurance companies continue free of excess profits and income tax they will destroy their tax-paying competitors. Exemptions would enable them to "destroy" their competitors through unfair advantage, payment of dividends, as an inducement to enlarge markets, and by pyramiding earnings as capital.

The brief urging equal tax on all fire and casualty insurers, was on behalf of 118 of the leading in-

Serious Damage

B.C. Farmlands Flooded After Heavy Rainfall

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(CP)—British Columbians throughout the lower mainland today began repairing damage, already estimated at many thousands of dollars, as the worst flood to hit this district in 10 years began to recede gradually.

Meteorologists predicted that the heavy rainstorms which have deluged the Pacific coast for the last two days have moved eastward. The weather bureau at Portland, Ore., predicted continued rain but storm warnings on the Oregon and Washington coasts were lowered early today.

5 INCHES OF RAIN

More than five inches of rain have fallen in Vancouver since 8:30 a.m., Tuesday. Heaviest rainfall was in the 24-hour period from 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, to 8:30 a.m., Wednesday, when 3.59 inches pelted down on the city. This was the heaviest downpour in any 24-hour period since January, 1935, when 3.63 inches fell.

Waters are still rising over the 10,000-acre area in the valleys of the Nicomeki and Serpentine rivers in the municipalities of Langley and Surrey. High tide at noon temporarily widened the flood area. In this district at least 15 homes are surrounded by water and in many cases there is water in the kitchens.

All motor vehicle traffic has stopped running on the Latimer, Clover Valley, Serpentine, Johnston, and Harvey roads in Surrey, which are reported to be under at least 15 inches of water.

FEW AT SCHOOLS

Children attending Cloverdale schools were taken last night by boat to their homes around the Latimer road. While no schools are closed on the lower mainland, attendance is reported at 30 per cent.

Occupants of 15 houses at Burkville on Sea Island have been marooned in their homes since yesterday when flood waters turned the section into a series of miniature lakes.

A milkman on Lulu Island, George Brunton, said he put the milk on planks and floated them toward the houses. Another milkman in the Lulu Island district reported he was unable to deliver to many houses along the Westminster highway because of high water.

Two German War Prisoners Murdered By Fellow Nazis

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The murder of two German prisoners-of-war by fellow captives following a "kangaroo court martial" in a Medicine Hat prisoner camp, was disclosed today in a newspage story in the Lethbridge Herald.

The newspaper said information about the murders became known shortly after they were committed in July, 1943, and September, 1944, but could not be revealed until now owing to censorship regulations.

The first "purge" victim, a middle-aged German trooper, was hanged on an improvised scaffold inside one of the camp compound buildings. The second, found dead in his bunk, was believed to have been strangled.

CRITICIZED HITLER

The Herald said it learned the hanging victim was sentenced to death after he made derogatory

Earthquake Bombs Hit M.T. Boat Nests

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Feb. 8—(BUP)—RAF Lancaster heavy bombers dropped six-ton earthquake bombs on German motor torpedo boat shelters at Nipmegen in west-central Holland today.

The daylight air fleet followed 1,300 RAF bombers which attacked western and central Germany late yesterday and last night. They struck their heaviest blows at Kleve and Goch, anchors of the north end of the Siegfried line.

The air ministry said "enemy troops and equipment" were the objectives at Kleve and Goch, the key bases of one of the most important sectors of the western front which leads to the Ruhr and the plains of northwest Germany.

Other RAF night raiders hit Magdeburg and seven other industrial towns in central and western Germany.

Late yesterday a force of Lancaster heavy bombers escorted by Mustangs and Spitfires of the RAF Fighter Command attacked targets in the Ruhr.

American Soldier Escapes Gallows

CAMP ROBERTS, Calif., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The death sentence imposed by a court martial on Pte. Henry Weber, 27, for having refused to drill was revoked yesterday and he was sentenced to dishonorable discharge from the army and life imprisonment at hard labor.

Last Monday a general court martial decreed death by hanging for the Vancouver, Wash., soldier.

The charge was that he argued for 45 minutes with two superior officers, and finally flatly refused to engage in army drill, declaring he would rather be shot than take up arms.

The commanding general at the camp directed the court to reconsider its verdict.

MP Urges Short Session of House

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 8.—(CP)—E. G. Hansell, Social Credit MP for Macleod, in a statement issued here yesterday suggested a short session of the House of Commons be held and the general election delayed until the summer. His statement follows:

"With the war situation as it is, and victory in sight, together with the prospective result of the 'big three' conference, a short session of parliament should be called in order that the fullest expression of the people's representatives may be given on these momentous issues.

"To call an immediate election with the state of things as they are in the world, as well as in Canada, would serve no good purpose. The people of Canada should not be submitted to political fights at a time when the world is facing such great problems.

"The next election will be a very important one, upon that election hinges the future destiny of Canada.

"A short session would clarify the present situation. An election then could be called for mid-summer."

Red Deer Army Centre to Close

Operated since April 24, 1941, the Canadian Army Service Corps training centre, A20, at Red Deer, will be closed effective Feb. 28, it was announced Thursday at headquarters of Military District 13. No announcement was made as to the distribution of the personnel at present on the training establishment, or in training at the centre.

Col. J. J. Burton-Willison, who has been commandant since the opening, has had more than 40 years army experience. Training at the centre included driving and maintenance of mechanical transport vehicles, which was carried on 24 hours a day. Lectures and practical training was given on maintenance, and also instruction in driving under all kinds of conditions, both day and night over all types of roads and terrain. Instruction was also given in the operation of motorcycles for despatch riders, convoy control and traffic control.

No information was available as to what use may be made of the buildings at the training centre.

Closed by Storm

SEATTLE, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Rising waters forced the closing of two Bethlehem Steel Company plants and a lumber mill here yesterday as heavy rain and winds as high as 80 miles an hour swept the Pacific northwest coast from Astoria, Ore., to the straits of Juan De Fuca. One fatality was reported.

5th Army Repels Counter-Attacks

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ROME, Feb. 8 — (BUP) — Fifth Army troops repulsed a number of strong enemy counter attacks to defend and consolidate recent gains in the Serchio valled on the Ligurian coast, headquarters said today, increased fighting developed on other sectors.

Colle Hamle, a quarter of a mile south of Reppignana was occupied against resistance.

In the central sector south of Bologna, American units were forced to fall back under a strong counter-attack a mile north of Castel Vecchio but they later routed the attackers and regained the ground.

Rent Is Increased From $26.50 to $70 For Home at Coast

VANCOUVER, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Lawrence and Cameron, Vancouver realtors, were convicted of an infraction of Prices Board rental regulations by Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes yesterday and fined $250 and $5 costs.

According to the evidence Lawrence and Cameron purchased a house in 1924 for $1,600 subsequently selling it to a man in Edmonton for $2,400.

From 1937 to 1942 the house had been renting for $26.50 unfurnished, it was testified. Acting for the Edmonton owner the firm had rented the house for $70 a month.

U.K. Battleship Nelson Refitted At Philadelphia

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(AP)—H.M.S. Nelson, British battleship which has weathered combat in all European battle zones, has returned to duty with the Royal Navy after spending more than six months in being completely refitted at the Philadelphia navy yard, the New York Times says in a dispatch from Washington.

New equipment, the exact nature of which cannot be disclosed, makes the Nelson one of the most formidable of the world's warships. Included in her armament are the original batteries of nine 16-inch guns, largest known to be used on any battleship, and a secondary battery of six-inch guns.

Independent Group Plans to Contest All Quebec Seats

QUEBEC, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Frederic Dorion, Independent member of the House of Commons for Charlevoix-Saguenay, and leader of the Independents' Group political movement, said in an interview last night that the Independents would have candidates in all 65 Quebec constituencies in the next general federal election, but was in no hurry to select candidates as "there will likely be no federal election this year."

Tokyo Claims Fleet Will Aid Counter-Attack

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Radio Tokyo said today that the Japanese will open a counter-offensive soon in the Philippines with the support of their fleet.

The counter-offensive will touch off "some of the greatest battles the world has ever known," Tokyo quoted the official Domei agency as saying in a broadcast recorded by U.S. government monitors.

Though the United States can afford to lose the battle of Luzon," Domei said, "it is not so with Japan." Japan must win if she is to survive, the agency explained.

If Gen. Tomoyuk Yamashita plans to retire to southern Luzon, Domei said, "the imperial Japanese navy will not only protect his flanks but also keep him in operation contact with Japanese garrizons entrenched in numerous Japanese-held islands to the south."

Food Shortages In Prison Camps Being Remedied

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP)—Food shortages in German prisoner of war camps are being remedied through an increased flow of Red Cross parcels, Maj.-Gen. Sir Richard Howard-Vyse, chairman of the prisoners of war department of the Red Cross, said yesterday in an article in the "Prisoner of War" magazine.

A situation which obliged the society to reduce its issue to one parcel a fortnight for each prisoner now had vanished and a resumed flow via Marseilles, France, plus supplies going in through Sweden was establishing once more a reserve in Geneva, he wrote. A full issue of a parcel a week would be resumed shortly.

Rain Falls Here: Forecast Is Mild

Edmonton seems to be getting a taste of every trick the weather man has in his bag of surprises. Rain totalling .07 of an inch fell during the night and early morning, but the skies cleared about noon and the official weather forecast is "bright and mild."

With an average temperature of 22, Wednesday was the warmest day since Jan. 28, when it was 28.

Mild weather is general over south western and northern Alberta but the Edmonton area and extending to the Grande Prairie district, was the only section of the province to get rain.

Maximum temperature in Edmonton yesterday was 31 above zero and the minimum overnight 22. At 7 p.m. it was 37 above, and the estimated overnight minimum is 15, and the maximum tomorrow, 30.

See Disintegration In Parts of Reich

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was said last night to have taken to the "Big Three" conference reports from inside the Reich of possible disintegration in the northern sections of Germany, both militarily and politically. As a result of this information it was considered possible that the Allied leaders had decided the time was ripe for launching massive assaults from the east and west in an all-out final, co-ordinated offensive to conclude the war now.

For Battle of Germany

Supreme Anglo-American-Soviet Command Is Believed Probable

By JON JIMCHE

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(Reuters)—The military consequences of the Black Sea conferences are more far-reaching than those of any such preceding meetings. For the first time in this war detailed staff arrangements are being made among military men of all three powers.

The presence at the conference of Marshal Alexander Vasilevsky, Gen. George Marshall and Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, the Soviet, United States and British chiefs of staff, is indicated in the communique. That they should meet at this time with the Soviet offensive in full swing and the Germans believing that the western offensive is imminent, is highly significant.

The military situation in Germany with two giant Allied forces approaching each other from the East and West clearly calls for the closest co-operation and liaison. The communique's reference to "joint military operations" and statement that their purpose was "to concert plans" suggests that preparations have been concluded for what might be called a "supreme Anglo-American-Russian

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Feb. 8.—Well, here I am Rhode Island . . . that's a state . . . J.G. I arrived in Providence this morning to do a couple shows and put on a broadcast from the Naval Air Station at Quonset Point. Rhode Island was founded over 209 years ago by Roger Williams. He had to found it. He couldn't get a hotel room in New York either! Rhode Island is a very small, densely populated state. In fact, every time a taxi driver sticks out his hand three people get pushed into Connecticut! While I was here in the oyster country I decided to send a girl I know a string of pearls. It wasn't exactly a string of pearls. I sent her a dozen bluepoints and a little essay on Always Being Optimistic!

Big Three Plan Grand Strategy To Defeat Reich

command for the battle of Germany."

DECIDE GRAND STRATEGY

The Black Sea conference will probably only decide on the grand strategy and leave the details to be filled in at a more convenient meeting place for the preparation of the actual military plans. What will have been decided probably will be the personnel of the new set-up, the Russian, United States and British commanders allocated for the liaison of operation. Another point in which the Russians are deeply interested is the co-ordination of the British and American bomber commands with the land armies.

As a result of the conference certain changes and regrouping of the Allied forces in the west may therefore take place. It is not clear, however, whether bomber command will remain an independent organization or whether it will be included into the new supreme command.

The phrasing of the communique also suggests that the next phase of the Soviet offensive will be accompanied by an all-out attack from the west. Nothing has so far been said of an appeal to Germany at this stage—a political move feared by the Nazis.

MILITARY NEEDS FIRST

The conference was primarily concerned in its first phase, with urgent military affairs. The communique said that the staffs are now working on the joint plans. As there is bound to be some interval between the completion of the plans and the beginning of the operations planned it has to be assumed that there will be an interval of a few weeks before the full import of the Black Sea plans will be felt on the east and western battlefields of Germany.

surance agencies in Winnipeg and 11 agencies in Brandon, Man.

"Our vital interests are threatened by unfair taxation between our principals, the stock, fire and casualty insurance companies, and their competitors, the mutual and reciprocal insurers," said the brief.

GIVES COMPARISON

The brief said the Wawanesa Mutual in six years—1937-42 inclusive—increased its surplus from $815,293 to $2,014,637 and returned to policy holders as dividends $88,742. In 1942, 72.8 per cent. of the stock companies' underwriting profit of $5,907,143 went to the state in taxes while none of the mutual companies' and reciprocals' underwriting profit of $2,228,662 was taxed.

The Winnipeg Board of Trade and the Manitoba Associated Boards of Trade both presented briefs to the commission headed by Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal.

The Winnipeg Board of Trade brief said continuation of income and excess profits tax to co-operatives would force "all business eventually into co-operatives."

The Manitoba Associated Boards said businesses generally could not hope to compete with corporation taxes and excess profit taxstion at the present high level while co-operatives escape this taxation."

The exemption is "virtually a subsidy to the competitors of ordinary business," said the brief, representing 40 boards of trade.

Two Are Questioned In Army Round-Up

Two brothers, picked up in an Edmonton railway station shortly after 7 a.m. Thursday in connection with the round-up of army deserters, were taken to city police headquarters and questioned. They were not held, it was stated.

While a number of persons have been taken into custody since a drive opened in the city Monday, the exact number being held has been withheld. The drive is being made by city police, RCMP and military authorities. It was understood that some 500 deserters across the country are still at large.

RCMP headquarters, where detention was being made of those rounded-up, had nothing further to report Thursday afternoon, it was learned.

Allied Assault On West Front Seen Imminent

kept the Nijmegen salient aglow last night with flares in large numbers, presumably to reveal any Allied activity.

OVERRUN TOWN

A handful of fanatical Germans held out in the cellars of Schmidt, key to the dam system and two and a half miles northwest of Schwammenauel. But the Americans had overrun the town itself for the second time in three months.

German artillery fire bursting around Schmidt appeared to be coming from batteries east of the Roer, and this fact combined with a reference in a front dispatch to "crumbling" resistance indicated the enemy was giving up the vital dams and his positions this side of the river.

The mounting clamor of German forecasts that Allied armies were ready to strike for the Rhineland and the Ruhr from the broad area around Aachen was accompanied by reminders that control of the Roer dams was essential to any drive across the river.

ATTENTION SHIFTS

The dams, backing up a combined mass of 160,000,000 tons of water, would release an 18-foot wall of water down the Roer valley, cutting off any Allied troops who had pressed across the last natural barrier before the Cologne plain.

At Supreme Headquarters, attention switched sharply to the fronts of the British Second and Canadian First armies because of heavy RAF air attacks on Kleve and Goch, key German bases between the Rhine and the Maas on which the Siegfried line is hinged.

On a front of more than 75 miles the American First and Third armies were on the move, forcing their way into or through the German West Wall at a score of points.

German spokesmen said Marshal Montgomery's British 2nd and American Ninth armies also were stirring to life in the opening stages of a new offensive.

BOMB FORWARD PATH

The Nazi fears were pointed up by an RAF assault last night on German troops, supply centres and communications lines in the path of the Second and Ninth and Canadian First armies.

Allied headquarters remained silent on German reports that a big offensive in the north was imminent. One enemy version said an Allied airborne attack on the Arnhem scale was brewing.

At the northern end of the First Army front, however, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' troops were slowly winning control of the mighty Roer dams, possession of which would be almost essential to the launching of an offensive across the Roer to the north.

DANGEROUS TO ALLIES

In German control, the dams could be operated to spill an 18-feet tidal wave down on any Allied troops that attempted to cross the Roer in the Dueren or Roermond sectors where the British Second and American Ninth armies have been massed for months.

Only a few scattered pockets of resistance remained in Schmidt when the Americans entered the town last night, and equally-feeble opposition was met in Kommerscheid, a half mile to the north, which fell to the 78th at midnight last night.

Four miles to the south, other American forces edged slowly forward into high ground dominating the Urftalsperre dam from the west, meeting heavy rifle fire from Nazi forces entrenched east of the dam.

AIM AT 2 BASTIONS

A few miles farther south, other First Army troops broke out of the Siegfried fortifications in hard-fought envelopment drives aimed at the twin strongholds of Gemund and Schleiden. Both towns were under close attack and unconfirmed reports said Schleiden had been captured.

On the right flank of the advancing First Army, Lt. Gen. George Patton's Third Army veterans closed in on the German supply base of Druem from the north, west and southwest, after breaking open a two-mile deep belt of the Siegfried line in the Schnee Eifel forest.

Far to the south in Alsace, French First Army forces drove nine miles south of captured Neuf-Brisach to reach Blodelsheim, a mile west of the Rhine, and they cleared the west bank of the river as far as Nambsheim, six miles below Neuf-Brisach reported by Moscow to have ripped into the northern suburbs of Kuestrin and into the eastern fringe of Frankfurt, while massive infantry formations surged up to the Oder and stamped out virtually all of the German toeholds on the east bank.

"The battle for the Soviet bridgeheads on the west bank of the Oder raged unabatedly with the Russians developing a drive to cut the Frankfurt-Berlin road and isolate the bastion city," British United Press Correspondent Henry Shapiro reported from Moscow.

Although the Red Army command has not yet confirmed the reported crossing of the Oder a little more than 30 miles east of Berlin, the Moscow dispatch reported the flanking drive, together with the Nazi acknowledgment of new Soviet gains beyond the river indicating that Zhukov had solidified his crossing sufficiently to renew his push toward Berlin.

VIOLENT BATTLE

The DNB news agency reported especially violent fighting in the (western) edge of Kuestrin, suggesting that the Russians had overrun most of the town at the confluence of the Oder and Warthe, and might have the river crossings there within their grasp. The agency said the Kuestrin garrison repulsed all "concentric" attacks.

Radio Moscow quoted a report that the Germans had completely evacuated eastern Berlin in preparation for fighting "expected to begin any time."

"It would cause no surprise here if the Germans gave up the capital completely," the Moscow broadcast said.

Both Berlin and Moscow dispatches indicated that the battle to decide the fate of the Nazi capital may have been joined on its eastern approaches. A Soviet breakthrough in force on the west bank of the Oder would open the gates of Berlin.

BRIDGEHEAD LOCATIONS

German broadcasts said the four expanding Soviet bridgeheads across the Oder were at Kienitz, 32 miles northeast of Berlin at a point south of Kuestrin, probably opposite Goerlitz, 37 miles east of Berlin and opposite Fuerstenberg, 43 miles southeast of Berlin.

Massed Soviet artillery was pouring a steady drumfire into both Kuestrin and Frankfurt and Berlin broadcasts conceded that a Russian armored spearhead had reached the centre of Kuestrin temporarily.

The First White Russian Army reached within 31 miles northeast of Berlin with a seven-mile advance to Zaeckerick, on the east bank of the Oder 22 miles northwest of Kuestrin.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—Berlin reported today that Russan forces had broken into the Baltic port of Elbing in East Prussia, the BBC said in a broadcast heard by NBC. The Red Army has been on the immediate approaches of the port, 32 miles southeast of Danzig, for more than a week.

LONDON, Feb. 8. — A Finnish broadcast recorded by the BBC said today that "Russian tanks have probed to the outskirts of Berlin."

Minister States Britain Cannot Rely on Imports

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters)—Exhaustive plans for the development of British agriculture with the aim of lessening imports into the United Kingdom were advocated here yesterday by two government officials.

Agriculture Minister Hudson informed the public that Britain could not rely on imports as she had done in the past.

"Our foreign exchange resources will determine how much we can import. Those resources will be limited, at any rate for some time," he said. "We shall not be able to spend them recklessly. We shall have to act like prudent housewives and only buy what we need."

Soviet Writer Attacks Vatican On Peace Policy

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—(AP)—K. Gofman, writing in Red Star yesterday, called Pope Pius the mouthpiece of Germany and the "preacher of a soft peace" and apparently served notice that the Soviet Union would resist any Vatican interference in Germany, Austria, Hungary and Poland.

Gofman's sharply-worded international review, without referring to the meeting of the big three, said the time was ripe for the Allied powers to settle the post-war fate of Hitler's Germany.

The author singled out Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist, as an example of elements in the United States and Britain which he declared "try to break down Allied unity in the last stage of the European war, accusing the Soviet Union and Britain of unilateral actions."

GIVES ARGUMENTS

Using quotations attributed to Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's associate, and editorials in the Kansas City Star and the New York Herald Tribune, the author gave arguments supporting the Russian policy in behalf of the security system of Europe and against the Allied political record in Italy.

Hopkins, the writer said, exposed the presence of Fascists in Italy's government and army.

But against the Pope the author mounted his strongest attack. He began with the charge that the Vatican's war-time policy had been pro-Nazi and had included attempts to "save Mussolini and prevent the democratization of Italy."

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist, said last night that she was "not interested in footless controversies with Soviet journalists, but rather in the statements and actions of the Soviet government."

Churchill Aides Killed En Route To Conference

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Ten passengers, including six members of the British foreign office, were killed when a plane carrying some of Prime Minister Churchill's aides crashed while en route to the "big three' conference, it was announced last night.

Five passengers were listed as missing and presumed killed, and five others were injured.

Foreign office personnel killed were: Peter Noel Loxley, Armine Roderick Dew and John Chaplin, all first secretaries; Robert MacDonald Guthrie; Detective Sergeant H. J. Battley, and a woman typist, Miss P. M. Sullivan.

Miss Sullivan was the daughter of Col. Arthur Sullivan, KC, of Winnipeg. She was 23 years old and had been working in the foreign office for nearly five years. Miss Sullivan was a stenographer to Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs.

War office personnel killed were Lt.-Col. W. G. Newey and Capt. A. K. Charlesworth. Group Captain P. S. Jackson-Taylor from the air ministry also was killed. Lt.-Col. I. S. H. Hooper, of the war office staff, died later of injuries.

Air Commodore H. A. C. Sanderson, of the air ministry, was listed among the injured. Those missing and believed killed were Capt. W. H. Finch, of the war office, and four crew members.

Labor Minister Is Confident Of Job Outlook

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—Confidence in post-war employment possibilities, based on a comprehensive government program, was expressed last night by Labor Minister Mitchell in an address on a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network.

Mr. Mitchell's address, prepared for delivery under the CBC plan of providing free network time for all political parties, reviewed the steps taken by the government to facilitate the transformation from a war to a peace economy.

GREATER STABILITY

As a result of the co-operation shown by the Canadian people in stabilizing prices and wages during the war period, there should be greater stability after the present war than after any similar emergency, Mr. Mitchell said.

Temporary periods of unemployment during the change-over to a peacetime footing were to be expected but the $250,000,000 unemployment fund would help meet this condition.

Release of a pent-up consumer demand for a wide range of goods not produced during the war would soon set the wheels of industry rolling again and maintain good business conditions.

"With the confidence given us by what we have been able to do in wartime we will show no less energy, no less initiative in making this country busy, prosperous and happy after the war," Mr. Mitchell said.

The 300 labor-management committees now functioning were also bringing management and workers together to discuss problems and iron-out difficulties which might hamper production, he concluded.

remarks about Hitler and voiced the opinion Germany was sure to lose the war.

A secret trial, known as a "kangaroo court martial," was convened at which members of the Gestapo were reported to have played a leading part.

Shortly after the trial a crude scaffold was erected in one of the large camp halls. The executioners used planks found in camp and timber from barracks benches. Electric wire, torn from a fixture, served as a noose.

At the time approximately 5,000 German captives were inside the compound, but it is believed only a comparatively few witnessed the hanging. Canadian army scouts and guards, who discovered the body, were said to have encountered resistance when they sought to remove it and dismantle the scaffold.

DONE AS WARNING

The second killing was described as The Gestapo's farewell to the Medicine Hat camp." It occurred on a day when thousands of Germans captured by Canadian troops in the Normandy invasion, arrived at the camp. The murder is believed to have been a warning to the new arrivals against losing faith in Hitler.

Churchill Wants France Consulted About Frontiers

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.

LONDON, Feb. 8. — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill is expected to urge the "Big Three" conference, now in session in the Black Sea area, to postpone settlement of Europe's frontiers until France can be included in the deliberations.

The announcement last night that Mr. Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin had turned to wide-range political discussions after reaching complete agreement on military operations against Germany made no mention of the frontier problem.

A few hours before official disclosure that the conference is in progress, Minister of State Richard Law told the House of Commons that Britain believed the question of new European boundaries "must be decided later by all powers together."

INTERESTS REALIZED

In Washington the acting secretary of state, Joseph Grew, reaffirmed the United States' "full realization of France's vital interest in the solution of the German problem and the part which France will inevitably play in maintaining the future peace."

With French feeling running high at the apparent exclusion of Gen. de Gaulle from the meeting of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin, Law told the House of Commons that Britain believed the reshaping of European frontiers "must be decided later by all the powers together."

Although the Big Three entered the meeting more or less agreed on most frontier problems, especially those concerning the lopping-off of German territory, the biggest issue remained Poland's future borders.

THOROUGH DISCUSSION

Russia's extension of her frontier westward at the expense of Poland was expected to be discussed thoroughly.

During the debate Mr. Law said the British government "Does not regard any provision of the Atlantic Charter as meaning" that no change could take place in enemy territory without the consent of its present inhabitants.

"Does not that interpretation of the Atlantic Charter make it sound complete humbug?" asked R. Sorenson, Labor.

"No, sir," Mr. Law replied.

Concerning countries which recently had been at war with Britain and her Allies, Mr. Law said there was no intention of establishing diplomatic relations with Finland, Bulgaria or Romania during the armistice periods. He explained that the Soviet government had no diplomatic representatives in those countries.

U.S. Paper Salutes Aid of Australia In Pacific Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The important role played by Australian forces in the southwest Pacific was saluted editorially yesterday by the New York Times, even as the isolationist Daily News questioned the role of the United States allies in that theatre.

"Bonds forged between the United States and Australia in many a south sea battle will not be dissolved until the flags of both wave victoriously over Tokyo," the Times said. "As they have done since the grim days at Port Moresby, Australian contingents will keep step with our advancing forces."

The Times stressed the magnitude of the cleanup task faced by the Australians, saying at present it "almost duplicates below the equator that which we have above the line in the Philippines."

He has served more than two years overseas, taking part in both the Sicily and Italian campaigns.

Fateful Hour For Germany Said At Hand

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP)—British newspapers headlined the official announcement of the "Big Three" conference today and editorialized that the fateful hour for Germany and the Allies was at hand.

A News Chronicle editorial said "The war is moving to a climax with ever-mounting speed," adding, "We may reasonably hope that before the trees are in leaf again the Third Reich will be a thing of the past."

Urging that German hints for peace terms be unheeded, the Daily Express asked: "Do they believe we want a third world war? That on the eve of victory after five and a half years of fighting we are going to give them a stalemated peace? So they can start all over again? Not this time."

The Daily Herald, describing the current meeting of Allied leaders as the "most fateful" one, said "We believe if they face the facts they will resolve that steps must be taken immediately to found a world authority, a new League of Nations, so that planning for post-war co-operation will be speeded up. Present slow and uneasy methods cannot continue."

The Herald editorial also called for the "Downfall of Hitler and the unconditional surrender of his dupes and accomplices."

Coldwell Scores Action by Ilsley In Debt Dispute

to corporation, income and gasoline taxes in return for payment of a grant by the Dominion totalling $5,830,000 annually in instalments.

Mr. Coldwell continued:

"I have studied the tax agreement between the Dominion and the province of Saskatchewan carefully. The money due the province of Saskatchewan is held by the department of finance in trust for the province and is payable unconditionally in amounts and on dates specified in the agreement. The minister of finance has no right to withhold any portion of such monies as and when they become due. His action is absolutely without legal authority and without moral right.

"The dispute between the minister of finance and the government of Saskatchewan regarding the payment for seed grain supplies in 193, has no connection whatever with the tax agreement between the two governments. I am confident that the justice of the stand taken by the government of Saskatchewan on the seed grain question, on behalf of the farmers and municipalities of that province, is recognized by every Canadian.

RESULT OF CALAMITY

"The plight of the Saskatchewan farmers in 1938 was the result of a calamity beyond their control. The shortage of seed gain was the direct consequence of the same federal government's policy in permitting the elevators to be almost emptied of grain in spite of universal knowledge that it would be needed for seeding.

"The price of about $1.45 per bushel of seed which the farmer had to pay was extortionate. This is shown clearly by the fact that on Nov. 1, 1938, the price of No. 1 Northern wheat at Fort William was 58 cents per bushel.

"Thus the Saskatchewan government is entirely justified in demanding a substantial adjustment which would remove part of the burden of a national calamity from the shoulders of the Saskatchewan farmers and spread it over the country as a whole. In fact, if the minister were as assidious in attacking the swollen and unjustified reserves of a dozen big corporations, he could in one year obtain in legitimate revenue from taxation several times as much as he is determined to squeeze out of the common people of Saskatchewan.

SAYS ACTION ARBITRARY

"This is all I need say on the seed grain issue at the present time. The important thing, however, is that no matter what the merits of the issue may be, the minister has no right to withhold monies due under the tax agreement, and his action in this regard is an arbitrary and capricious violation of the agreement.

"Everyone knows that the future of our country depends, in large measure, on improved co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces and on a revision of their respective jurisdictions.

"The minister's action has dealt a severe blow to the possibility of such co-operation and constitutional revision. For the provinces will be more hesitant than ever to yield financial powers to the Dominion which an unfriendly minister of finance may abuse to thwart the will of the people of a province.

"It would be a pity if the people of Canada were forced to the conclusion that the minister's action is motivated by partisan considerations and by a desire to place obstacles in the way of a provincial government whose policies he and his powerful friends oppose.

ACTION IMPERATIVE

"I therefore appeal to the prime minister and to the government to ensure that funds held in trust for any province, under a Dominion-provincial agreement, are dealt with in accordance with the provisions of that agreement. Such action is imperative if confidence is to be re-established in present or future Dominion-provincial agreements. I believe it is not too late to repair the damage which has been caused."

Debt-Free Land For War Veterans

VICTORIA, Feb. 8—(CP)—British Columbia veterans will be able to get their land grants after the war free of all debt with a grant of $2,320 to develop them under a plan worked out by Hon. E T Kenney, minister of lands, on his recent visit to Ottawa in connection with veterans' land grants.

This will be an optional plan to the general scheme by which veterans must put up 10 per cent. of the cost of lands and buildings and then take on loans up to $6,000 for development and chattels. By this method, at the end of 10 years, up to $2,320 of the indebtedness will be written off by Ottawa if satisfactory work has been done.

By the British Columbia plan, a veteran can get his $2,320 interest free to work on at the start and the government is offering him his land as an outright gift—up to 160 acres.

The only string is that the money must be spent under supervision of the federal government's land boards.

Political Groups Busy Preparing Election Plans

will contest Lethbridge, Alta., and Maxime Raymond, Bloc Populaire leader, Beauharnois-Laprairie, Que.

If Mr. King either by a delayed election or by winning the election should still be prime minister on June 4 he will have held that post longer than any other Canadian. He will then have exceeded Sir John A. MacDonald's record of 18 years, 11 months and 26 days.

So far the CCF leads all parties in the number of candidates chosen —153 according to the last count of those reported to headquarters. The Progressive Conservatives have nominated 112 and the Liberals 87.

EXPECTED SOON

Indicative of the expectancy that the election will come soon is the fact that members now are bestirring themselves about their nominations. Cabinet ministers are starting to move about. Trade Minister MacKinnon's nominating convention in Edmonton West has been fixed for Feb. 23 and he is going there to speak and then journey to Vancouver to address the Board of Trade.

Defence Minister McNaughton, beaten in the Grey North by-election, has signified his intention of running in Qu'Appelle, Sask., now represented by E. E. Perley, Progressive Conservative.

The Liberals expect to contest every one of Canada's 243 constituencies which with the two-member ridings of Halifax and Queens, P.E.I., elect the 245 members of the Commons. Progressive Conservatives will have more than 200 candidates in the field and the CCF objective is "at least 225." The Social Credit party, hitherto largely an Alberta party, is planning to run candidates in other provinces.

HAVE 65 CANDIDATES

The Labor Progressive party led by Tim Buck has about 65 candidates nominated across Canada and expects to have 70 to 75 by nomination day. The party's slogan will be "make labor a partner in government."

Quebec's Bloc Populaire party which operates from a headquarters in Montreal will probably contest most if not all of the 65 Quebec seats and perhaps a few in Ontario and New Brunswick. No candidates have yet been nominated.

There is no assurance about the actual lineup of parties in Quebec except the prospect that there will probably be many independents. Progressive Conservatives have only four candidates nominated in the French-speaking province but both they and the CCF hope to place candidates into nearly every riding.

National Liberal headquarters plan a Liberal candidate in every Quebec constituency. Whether this will mean the anti-conscriptionist Liberals will run under the party banner with a semi-independent status will probably vary in different constituencies.

It's Likely True

It may be only a rumor, relayed from Switzerland, that "tremendous new stocks of supplies are being poured into mountain strongholds in the Munich area, where Hitler is preparing a last-ditch defence when Berlin and northern Germany is lost".

But if only a surmise, this lines up with circumstances which give it strong probability of being correct. Germans less intuitive than the Fuehrer must foresee now that Berlin and northern Germany cannot long be tenable fighting ground. And Adolf has promised, with nobody doubting his word for once, that he will fight to the bitter end.

This being so, it is logical to suppose that "large stocks of coal and great stocks of food and armament are being stored in caves around Munich", undoubtedly the best hold-out area in the Reich.

Fact or rumor, if this Swiss report seeps across the German border it is likely to make trouble. People in northern Germany, hungry, cold, and millions of them on the tramp, would find their loyalty to Hitler put to a severe test by the mention of "great stocks of coal and food" being accumulated for his comfort and sustenance. And people in the Munich area would hardly welcome the prospect of their farms and towns being turned into battlefields for the sake of a lost cause.

Good News From England

Among all the promises of things to come after the war which, we are told, will make life swifter, richer and more complicated, one item stands out like an evening rainbow.

It is this simple statement from the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa:

"British scientists have evolved a new treatment based on penicillin which will master the common cold. The new treatment will not be available until after the war. This is because manufacture of the British-discovered drug is reserved for battle casualties and special diseases".

Even if all the other scientific promises fail, this one achievement will make the world a much more glorious place.

For what is the most wretched, dismal, disgusting, bedeviling, disheartening and miserable affliction to which flesh is heir?

The answer comes in a million hoarse voices: The common cold!

If one wanted to be statistical instead of lyrical about it, one could recount the facts which show that the common cold causes a greater loss of manpower hours than all other diseases put together, that it is responsible for more ill-temper than bad cooking, that more money is spent on cold panaceas than for any other medical purposes.

But why recite the facts? All human experience rises up to anathematize the common cold with one condemning voice.

This is easily the best news to come out of England since D-Day.

One Day's Program

It's handy to have more than one army around when there is a big fight on. While General Zhukov's army halted briefly to re-group east of Berlin, General Konev's army to the south broke across the Oder and headed a drive toward Saxony. Now the Nazis will have to do some re-grouping.

It didn't of course just happen that—the same day—Allied bombers from the western front hopped over and sprinkled block-busters on Madgeburg, Leipzig and Dresden. These cities lie directly in the path Konev's army seems to be taking. Dr. Goebbels has another chance to complain that Eisenhower is helping the Russians.

Neither was it coincidence that—the same day—Berlin noted that Russian troops in Czechoslovakia had begun to move in the same general direction, while Berlin correspondents of Swedish newspapers sent out word that the Allies in Italy had started a "violent" new offensive along the whole line.

Berlin radio chimed in—the same day—to announce an imminent new attack on the Siegfried line along a 75 mile front, and saying things weren't going very well for the Nazis in the Roer river and Alsace sectors; while admitting the systematic strangulation of the Hitler garrison in Konigsberg and the growing peril to Stettin.

These chronicles of a day mean that blows are being delivered on all sides of the Hitler fortress, and that they are being timed and co-related with a nice regard to maximum results. The Battle of Germany is obviously rushing to the climax.

"Co-Prosperity" In Action

Synthetic rubber plants in Canada and the United States have increased their capacity from 850,000 to 1,100,000 tons per year. It is estimated that, because of this increased production, the price will drop, perhaps to a figure lower than the cost of natural rubber. During the past year the price has gone down about ten cents per pound, and is now 30 cents, against 17 cents as the pre-war price of natural rubber. The further reduction to result from increased output may bring the synthetic price to or below the latter figure.

The Dutch will get back their rubber-producing islands in the East Indies. But whether they will get back more than a fraction of the rubber market they had in 1939 is another question. The United States was then their greatest customer, and it is a safe prediction that neither there nor in Canada will the synthetic plants be scrapped when the war ends. More likely these will be expanded and multiplied, with further reductions in producing-cost. The outlook for the East Indies plantations, and for the native populations who earned a living from them, is therefore not good.

That outlook would be even worse if the Japanese had succeeded in their intention to hold these islands. For compassionate or other reasons the western peoples may in future buy some natural rubber from the East Indies; but they would buy none if those islands were under Japanese domination.

Tokyo's "co-prosperity" war has certainly cost the people of Java and Sumatra a heavy proportion of their former market for natural rubber. It would have cost them still more had Tokyo's plans succeeded.

The men who built the Ledo-Burma road moved enough earth—and rock—to build a wall three feet wide and ten feet high clear across the Dominion. Or, to use a more meaningful figure, to build a highway from Halifax to Vancouver. But Canada had been dawdling over the Trans-Canada project for twenty years before the war put a stop to all such operations, while the Ledo-Burma road was put through in a year and a half. There would seem to be a construction "moral" lying on the surface of this comparison.

An Ontario cow has won top place as a milk-producer in two milkings per day, over competitors of any age and any breed. She is said to have given 12,775 quarts in one year, which works out at 35 quarts per day if she milked throughout the whole year, 39 quarts per day if she took six weeks off. A regrettable incident is that the man who formerly owned her and picked her for a winner did not live to see her capture the championship. He was Capt. Roy Brown, a Canadian ace flier of the First Great War, who is credited with having shot Von Richtofen out of the air.

Different Interpretations?

By J. H. GRAY

The McDougall Commission on Co-operatives backed into a new phase of the taxation problem as it began its Winnipeg hearing Monday. The question of whether or not section 4 (p) of the Income War Tax Act is uniformly interpreted across the country, or whether what has held true in Manitoba, for example, has not held in other provinces.

The point arose from the brief of the Income Taxpayers' Association, which was read by Mr. Adamson and Mr. Thorvaldson of Winnipeg. The brief suggested that the income tax department had not been assessing co-operatives and mutual insurance companies in accordance with the Income War Tax Act and in accordance with the Excess Profits Tax Act. It urged that if this were substantiated the concerns should be re-assessed for past years on the proper basis.

Several sentences in the brief caught the eye of Mr. J. J. Vaughan. One said: ". . . the practice has been to treat as exempt only the patronage dividend." And another: "Income from reserves, it is understood, and undistributed surplus is taxed."

The complaint of the independent merchants in Saskatchewan and Alberta was that neither income from reserves or undistributed surpluses were taxed; and because of this the co-operatives were able to pile up substantial cash reserves which were being used to buy out independent competitors.

Questioned by Mr. Vaughan, Mr. Adamson said that his information from local sources was that until very recently, reserve earnings and undistributed earnings were being taxed. This, he said, was borne out in a statement made in 1941 by the secretary of the co-operative union of Canada who said that urban co-operatives had to pay income taxes on the net savings of their members. If Mr. Adamson's information stands up this is something to be looked into.

The Taxpayers' Association brief was by far the longest yet presented to the commission. It was a lawyer's brief, full of references to previous cases and extracts from reports on co-operatives the world over. All this the chairman said the commission would find valuable.

The kernel of the brief was that the association wants all co-operatives and mutual insurance companies taxed on the same basis as private companies. It also wants patronage dividends taxed. It saw no difference between a co-operative distributing earnings to its members and a corporation distributing profits to its shareholders.

Mr. Thorvaldson emphasized that the tax exemption concessions granted to co-operatives before the war had not been seriously regarded because corporation taxes were relatively light. But with the heavy war imposts this exemption could no longer be justified. He estimated that taxation of co-operatives would have yielded the Dominion treasury $20,000,000 in 1943.

The second brief of the day was read with fine feeling and perfect diction by Mr. Ransom for the Manitoba Wheat Pool and five allied co-operatives. Prepared by Mr. J. T. Hull, it was one of the most erudite submissions yet.

It traced the growth of co-operatives from the Gruyere and Cheddar cheese pioneers, through the Rochdale trail-blazer down to the present time. The contrast between the co-operative and corporative methods of operations was the clearest yet produced. One sentence from this brief is of particular interest. Here it is:

"The co-operative as a corporation is an instrument for the co-ordination of identical economic activities of members of the association; it is not an acquisitive economic unit."

The practices of many co-operatives, priticularly in Saskatchewan and Alberta, of piling up reserves, will make it difficult for laymen to see where these particular organizations are not "acquisitive."

The place to tax the earnings of producer co-operatives, we gather from this brief, was in the hands of the producers, whose cost of operation was reduced, and hence margin of profit was increased by the savings effected for them by the co-operatives.

Mr. Hull's brief urged a Dominion co-operative act which would adequately define a co-operative society and hence settle once and for all its legal status. It wound up with the line co-operatives are taking from coast to coast—they do not make earnings; they are only concerned with makings savings for their members. What earnings they may have are transient, belong exclusively to their members.

Nazi Fall Will Leave Vacuum

Military Government Not Workable in Defeated Germany

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The reports of army psychological warfare investigators on the state of mind of ordinary Germans bear out my own impression of the Nazi "revolution," acquired on the spot when it occurred. Years ago I described it in an article on "Foreign Affairs." My impression was of the occupation of Germany by an alien horde. Of course, it was not alien. A strata of German life, largely confined to a certain age group, had taken over and erased the normal life of the country. The attitude of most people was that of surprised bystanders at the funeral of their own society. In wide circles the Nazi rising was regarded almost as a natural phenomenon, like an earthquake, outside the control of human will.

Dorothy Thompson

This was accompanied by the vague confidence that "nothing is eaten as hot as cooked," and that, with time, things would become normalized.

The regime tried to win over the rest of the people by terror and persuasion. It succeeded at various times, and in varying degrees, but never completely. In the Soviet revolution, the regime ruthlessly liquidated its real or potential enemies, by wiping out the upper and middle classes.

But the reverse was not possible for the Nazis. The strongest opposition was in the working classes. But the Nazis could not liquidate them and run an economy. Their persecutions therefore had to be directed at Jews and individuals, in all classes. They succeeded in destroying all opposition leadership and organization. But they could not remove potential or latent opposition. The individual protected himself by hiding his thoughts and outwardly conforming. The result was eventually to deaden political thought, for thought that finds no expression expires.

Therefore, once the Gestapo—S.S. terror machine—and Nazi bureaucracy are liquidated, a political vacuum will remain, as far as younger groups are concerned: an incoherent remembrance of another era in the minds of older Germans; and a strong Nazi remnant in the 20-40 age group.

Among the non-Nazi but non-political Germans our problem will be the creation of new confidence around a new idea. It will not be a problem of "punishment," but of creating a new mentality, outlook, hope and faith, in a resigned and exhausted people. Punishment except of specific persons and groups is meaningless to a nation that has six to seven million dead, millions of crippled, ruined cities, and a lost war. The danger will be that out of disintegration, the country will fall into anarchy with attempted seizures of power by brutal minorities.

The idea that a military government by itself can bring civilian order out of such chaos is preposterous.

It will be necessary: First, to maintain a production and distribution system, industrial and agricultural. To do this certain Nazi regulations will have to be kept with new administrators. Nazi ideology has nothing to do with a functioning rationing system, planned delivery of farm products, and other purely economic regulations. The continued functioning of the economy demands commissions of trained managers who can be brought in from outside. Their task will be enormous, for Germany is, at this moment, eating up its resources and economically disintegrating.

Second, confidence inspiring courts must be established. General Eisenhower is planning to revive the pro-Hitler civil codes. But the problem is of weeding out judges, and for that we need a judicial commission of discriminating persons.

Third, and most important in the long run, is education: The re-establishment of primary, secondary and university education in harmony with civilized standards. For that we shall need an educational commission.

Political re-establishment will need time—until a non-existent public opinion creates itself. But the other things will be pressing.

These commissions have not, I believe, been called into existence, but they should be created now. It is very late, and we must use the material that is at hand.

However we occupy Germany, the highly centralized economy of Germany will have to be run, to start with, anyhow, from a single centre. The first commission should consist of able industrial managers, whose job must be purely technical, furnished by the four occupying powers.

For the second commission personnel is available. There are thousands of German lawyers in exile. The son of the last pre-Hitler justice of the German supreme court is in New York. These men should be organized.

For the third we can draw some thousand anti-Nazi scholars. Hundreds of them are in the United States; others are in Britain, Switzerland and Turkey. Commissions of these scholars could go into every German university and find out who is reliable. These, combined with Americans from the Germanic faculties of our own universities, are the only persons who can conceivably do this. As I see it, a civilized Germany can only be created from the universities, which in many of the faculties will prove to have held to civilized standards through all these terrible twelve years. There the tradition is deepest. Through generations before Hitler no universities were more dedicated to freedom of thought and search after truth than were those in Germany.

We are faced with an enormous responsibility on the fulfillment of which will depend the rebirth not only of Germany but of European civilization.

New Primate of All England

By George Murray in the London Daily Mail

The Right Reverend Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Bishop of London, is facing a task which will tax all his abilities. He has been translated to the Archbishopric of Canterbury, which means that he has been given the highest office of its kind in the British Empire.

There are two English Archbishops—those of Canterbury and York. Canterbury takes precedence. He is the "Primate of All England," whereas his reverend brother is merely "The Primate of England."

Canterbury is the head of the English Established Church. Its ritual, its finances, its organization everywhere—and that means all over the world—are ultimately his concern. But his immediate work lies in the Province of Canterbury, which covers half of England and also takes in 26 overseas bishoprics ranging from Newfoundland to Madagascar and Zanzibar.

It can be seen, therefore, that Dr. Fisher, as first of the Lords Spiritual in the ancient realm of England, 97th occupant of the Throne of St. Augustine, will have his hands full.

But, more than that, he follows a man who will be hard to succeed. His predecessor, William Temple, himself the son of an Archbishop of Canterbury, was famous for his outspoken views on social problems of the day.

The Primacy is usually a symbol of caution and conservatism in political matters. William Temple made it the opposite.

He carried out a flaming crusade on behalf of progressive ideas and did not hesitate to affirm, in contradiction to his critics, that it was very much the duty of the Church to interfere in politics.

How, then, does Dr. Fisher measure up to the great demands which will be made upon him? What are his qualifications for the supernal office to which he has been called?

It can be said that he was almost the only choice after the death of William Temple. He is 57—a mere baby as Primate—and is known as a brilliant scholar and a first-class administrator.

Unlike most of his predecessors in modern times, he has never been a parish priest. For nearly 20 years he was headmaster of Repton, one of England's great boarding schools for boys. It is curious that he should have succeeded Temple even in that post. But whereas Temple was 32 when he became head of Repton, Fisher was only 27—an exceptionally low age to become head of such a school. This fact, in itself, is testimony to the high intellectual attainments of the Right Reverend Doctor.

In 1932 Fisher was appointed Bishop of Chester, and in 1939 Bishop of London. Thus he has been a bishop for only 12 years, and is comparatively unknown to the public.

Such rapid advancement, though it has its disadvantages, must certainly be taken as a tribute to his outstanding abilities—without which, indeed, no man can hope to become Archbishop of Canterbury.

The question whether or not these abilities are such as to make his reign notable can only be answered by time. It may be that Dr. Fisher may yet prove to be among England's great Archbishops.

As a person, the new Archbishop is a pipe-smoking, rather lawyer-like family man—the father of six sons—four of whom are in the armed forces—and the husband of a woman who is one of the most effective public speakers in the country.

On occasion he has not hesitated to depart from convention.

He got into trouble with the narrow sectarians by allowing a commemoration service to General Booth, the Salvation Army leader in St. Paul's Cathedral. A keen exponent of unity among the sects, he replied that they all owed a lot to General Booth.

On another occasion he played a barrel-organ in one of London's more fashionable squares on behalf of a favorite charity.

But such unorthodoxies are as nothing compared with the unorthodoxy of a William Temple. On the whole Dr. Fisher runs true to form. He is one of the directors of a Marriage Guidance Council and of a Public Morality Council.

He is opposed to the opening of theatres on Sunday. "The somnolence of Sunday must be preserved," he says, somewhat facetiously. He is, naturally, concerned by the spread of drinking during wartime, and denounces treating as "the perversion of good comradeship to evil ends."

His strictures do not fall upon tobacco. "I cannot work without smoking," he says.

And, a final human touch: "It is always difficult for any reasonably honest man to be absolutely honest when it comes to income tax returns."

Much of Dr. Fisher's time as Bishop of London has been concerned with finances—especially his own. Like most English bishops, he is weighed down by the enormous expense of maintaining the palace in which these princes of the Church are expected to live.

He was comfortably off in Chester. There he received $16,000 a year and kept a house of only 12 rooms. On his translation to London his stipend rose to $40,000 a year, but of this $24,000 went in the upkeep of Fulham Palace, traditional Tudor home of the bishops of the capital.

Fulham Palace may have been a financial worry to the Doctor, but think what it must have been to the Doctor's wife who has had to manage the household.

The palace is a building which rambles about so much that nobody ever seems to have agreed about the number of rooms with anyone else. Estimates range from 54 to 200—but the most authentic reports say there are 70 rooms.

Mrs. Fisher does not claim to be domesticated. "I think I could boil the bishop's shaving water at a pinch," she says—beyond which she will not go.

But, as a bishop's wife, her time is not her own. She is, for example, president of the Mothers' Union, the nation-wide organization of the country's best elements—the family women—and her many other duties take all day and every day to perform.

To be a bishop's wife in these days of high income tax and no domestic servants is no joke. Even less of a joke is it to be the wife of an Archbishop. Lambeth Palace, official home of the Primate, is twice the size of Fulham Palace. It is 700 years old and has 140 rooms.

But Mrs. Fisher's problem has been reduced by the Germans. No fewer than 110 rooms at Lambeth Palace have been made uninhabitable by air raids.

So the new Archbishop, his wife, and his six sons look forward to a life on a newer and higher plane.

But not just yet. The enthronement of Dr. Fisher is not to take place until the weather gets warmer. Owing to the coal shortage in England there is no central heating in Canterbury Cathedral.

A lecture on Safety First had just been given to the junior scholars. As the school master ceased a hand shot up and a voice inquired: "Is it true, sir, that if you are killed or injured in a tram or bus, the corporation have to pay your family a sum of money?"

"Certainly, if it is not the person's own fault," was the reply. "Does anyone else wish to ask a question?"

"Please, sir, do you get your penny back as well?"

A Confession to the Young

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

For the current diseases of depression, scepticism and cynicism, the most effective remedy is to spend an evening with the young folks of a Canadian university. After such an experience, this reporter is able to record that the youngsters of today are roughly ten times more intelligent than we were at their age and far better equipped for the struggles of life. We are growing a fine new generation in this country.

The men who now largely control the destinies of Canada are the children of the Great Disillusionment. They were told that the first world war would end all war. They believed the promises of such well-meaning prophets as Woodrow Wilson, whose sincerity was beyond question, who knew what the world needed but whom the world rejected. Then came the retreat from idealism in the nineteen twenties, and youth which had just entered the world, ill-prepared for it, assumed because one great attempt at sanity had failed, no attempt could ever succeed. Idealism swung in one swift stroke of the pendulum into cynicism, everybody tried to get all he could while the getting was good, every nation tried to beggar its neighbor and presently we were into the Great Depression. This pushed the pendulum to its ultimate in bitter hopelessness.

Today, though one can hardly realize it, we are about to see the emergence of a generation raised and educated during the present war, whose whole 'teen-age life has been lived under war conditions. What kind of a generation is it? This is a question much too hard for an oldster to answer over the gulf which always separates him from youth. But among the university boys and girls one thing is certainly clear—they have not fallen into our mistake of expecting miracles. They will not be plunged from the heights of faith into the pit of despair overnight, as we were, because they have refused to believe in magic.

It is not cynicism—a cheap, nasty and cowardly instinct at best—that you find among these kids. It is rather a new and clear-eyed realism. They know, as we never knew, the size of the job ahead in keeping the peace and establishing prosperity. Beside them our lost youth seems infinitely pathetic, for we were hurried into a new kind of world before our time, prepared only for a world that had died. Incredibly naive seem our views of society, for we accepted as an enduring thing the society of our fathers. We did not begin to guess, until we were too old to do much about it, that we had been born into a revolution which would alter, if it did not destroy, the kind of life we had been trained for.

The current and better crop knows more about the state of the world today than we began to find out until we were grown up, married and settled down. Where we were trained in theories, if at all, these youngsters are aware of the daily passing scene in the world, and constantly floor you with their shrewd judgment of men and movements.

Perhaps the ones I am talking about are not a cross-section of any entire university. Perhaps they are the intelligent core only. But even if this is true, they are an asset to the country such as it did not possess at the end of the last war. We had no large or visible group of young people then with the remotest idea of what our country and our society were about. By the time we learned roughly what it was about it was too late.

Today you find the second-year college boy talking with greater knowledge and understanding than was displayed in our parliaments as late as ten years ago. You find girls who, in our time, would have been interested in nothing more complex than love, now quite able to take on a seasoned politician and make a monkey of him in his own field. Above all, you find a vast, insatiable appetite for knowledge, a demand to know about life which will not be denied, and a cool awareness that most of the slogans, clap-trap and easy promises now dispensed as statesmanship are worthless. Neither the Right nor the Left need expect to sell any cure-alls to these clear-eyed young Canadians. They won't be fooled as we were.

Present

ANTIGONISH (N.S.) CASKET

On Christmas night a group of about 15 young boys ranging in age from five to 16 landed in the lobby of the Colonial House and asked the proprietor to get Chief Archie MacGillivray. He hesitated, and tried to figure out why this bunch of commandos should gang up on the best friend that Antigonish kids and old people have ever had. He decided to let Archie take his own chances, so he went up and got him.

The chief stopped at the first landing and looked at the crowd of chattering youngsters with the snow dripping off them over the hardwood floor and decided to make a flank attack. However the commandos beat him to the punch and before you could say "Burma Road" they had his two big hands in their little hands, pumping them up and down and all yelling "Merry Christmas, Chief!" Then the smallest of the group, Carroll McIntyre, forgetting his speech, presented him with an envelope containing $85 and said: "Here's a letter for you Red Archie." That's the name the children of Antigonish have affectionately pinned on their best friend and Archie thinks it is much better than the names most kids call most chiefs of police.

The chief thanked them and told them they had his permission to play truant until January 5. The children then left and Archie and the proprietor shovelled the snow out of the lobby and then went back to finish their checker game.

The woman shook her head, "No," she replied, "We happen to be chapel people."

The vicar looked surprised. "Then why didn't you send for your own minister?"

"Oh, it wouldn't be fair," was the reply. "You see, it's scarlet fever my daughter's got."

Claim Weakness In Tax Scheme At Co-Op. Probe

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP)—Co-operatives' effect on uniting racial groups and providing savings to farm communities contrasted with charges of weakness in the Dominion government's taxation plan to prevent inflation was outlined in evidence placed before the Royal Commission on Taxation of Co-operatives here yesterday.

The co-operative insurance subsidiaries of the three prairie wheat pools also successfully resisted an application to the commision to force them to make public financial statements of their operations.

Mr. Justice Erroll M. McDougall, commission chairman, announced that briefs before the commission could be made public but other documents were not necessarily public. "The commission is entitled to have these statements for its own guidance but my opinion is they can't be thrown open to everyone," he said.

BRIEFS HELD OVER

The financial statements of Pool Insurance, Limited, Pool Insurance Company and Canadian Pool Agencies, at request of R. H. Milliken, KC, Regina, counsel for the Saskatchewan Co-operative Producers, Limited, will be revised and include information agreed on between counsel for the pools and commission counsel, E. T. Parker of Halifax. The two pool briefs were held over until Thursday when R. M. Dancer, manager of the insurance subsidiaries will be examined.

"We object to giving confidential information for the eyes and ears of those opposed to us", said Mr. Milliken. "We don't feel our business should be made public", he said, adding that he had no objection to filing the statements for the commission's own use.

W. H. Howard, KC, Montreal, counsel for the Northwest Line Elevators Association, and J. A. Mann, KC, Montreal, counsel for Joint Stock Fire and Casualty Insurance companies claimed it would be difficult to examine witnesses without the statements.

PREVENT INFLATION

"Taxation is being used by the government as a means of preventing inflation", said A. E. Dills in presenting a brief on behalf of 45 independent dairy and creamery companies in Manitoba. "So long as no tax is imposed on co-operatives there is a serious weakness in the government's plan".

Mr. Dilts expressed belief a great majority of business enterprises in Canada will be compelled to become co-operatives to survive if co-operatives continue free of income and excess profits taxes. "Not only will the government then be forced to obtain its revenues by taxation on all co-operatives but it will also be faced with the problem of dealing with what have become giant monopolies."

The independent dairies urged equal taxation and protested what they termed a subsidy paid to co-operatives by people of a community who do not believe in co-operation and who are in competition with co-operatives.

MUST SHARE BURDEN

A brief from the Western Canada Fuel Association, representing 1,273 coal operators, wholesalers and retailers, said "all must share equitably in the burden of the carrying of taxation." It claimed co-operatives carry on a trade or business in the same way as those subject to taxation.

Girls' Cadet Corps Is Being Planned

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP)—Cadet corps for girls in the three services may be included in the post-war youth program. The Dominion Inter-Service Cadet Committee, in Winnipeg to discuss joint cadet training with heads of departments of education, said in a statement it "Has carefully studied the inclusion of girls in cadet training, and is in favor of the scheme." The statement added that after further consideration a recommendation will be forwarded to the chief of staff.

OF THE four undefeated rinks in the bonspiel this morning, three were visitors, and a glance at the various progress charts also shows that other out-of-town curlers are continuing to set a fast pace as Edmonton's big annual event swings into the fourth day.

Three competitions had reached the 16's at the close of play on Wednesday—Grand Challenge, King Edward and Bank of Montreal. The visitors have an even break with city skips in the premier event, with eight of each still alive, but 10 of the 16 brackets in the King Edward are occupied by out-of-towners. The score is nine to seven in favor of the visitors in the Bank of Montreal event.

And Secretary Jim McCool announced at the banquet last night that this is the 28th consecutive bonspiel here for A. M. Dalgleish of Grande Prairie, who tops the list in games won so far with eight straight. That means one curler at least has never missed a single 'spiel since the Alberta Curling Association took over.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBER

IN his remarks following the presentation of the honorary life membership in the Alberta Curling Association, Henry Trimble recalled having been to bonspiels in Edmonton twice before the turn of the century . . . also that there was only one other curler in Lacombe when he first went there to reside and that the two immediately formed a curling club.

Rocks were then $16 per pair, according to Henry. The veteran curler now residing in Calgary lived in Edmonton for several years and he mentioned the first meeting of the Granite Club was held in his home. Henry urged that high school pupils be taught and encouraged to curl.

Frank Lee and Chester Sorenson are skipping alternately for the Stettler entry in the bonspiel. Other members of the rink are Alex Bissett and Harry Bitzer. Incidentally Chester's brother Harold is skipper for the southern Alberta Consols winners from Olds. Hube Gooder, under whose name the rink is entered, plays third rocks, while Verne Holmes looks after the seconds. Ralph Maybank is lead.

George Laight, in addition to being chairman of the entertainment committee for the Alberta Curling Association, has a rink in the 'spiel as usual. The quartet aggregates 266 years—an average of 66.5. The oldest member of the rink is 72.

It's a horse apiece now for Bob Edwards of Alberta Ave. Club and C. L. Larson of LaGlace. The Peace River curlers took a 7-6 decision in the King Edward on Tuesday night, but Bob and his crew bounced back with 11-6 verdict in the Challenge yesterday morning.

Banks, Manahan, Olsen, Rose, Robertson, Wolfe Drop First Games

List Unbeaten Rinks Reduced To Four

Dalgleish Leads With 8 In Row

NUMBER of undefeated rinks had narrowed to four, three of them from out-of-town clubs, at the conclusion of the final draw on Wednesday, third day of the 28th annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association which began Monday morning.

A. M. Dalgleish, was out in front with eight straight victories, the Grande Prairie rink having taken three in a row yesterday. C. A. Runyan of Viking, added two more wins to his list for a total of seven, while Glen Williams of Calgary also has seven, having picked up a pair on Wednesday.

George McLaughlin, the only unbeaten Edmonton skip won twice yesterday and has six without a reverse.

Cliff Manahan, Frank Wolfe and E. B. Olsen, all of the Royal, Billy Rose of Sedgewick, A. Banks of Forestburg and Bert Robertson of the Granite all passed out of the select circle on Wednesday. Wolfe lost two starts out of three and Manahan, Olsen and Robertson got an even break in two games, but Banks and Rose both won two of their three.

There were only four draws on Wednesday, the last two being cancelled on account of the annual banquet. All games on the first two draws today are in the North West Brewery event.

Starting with a 14-2 win over Bert Ross of the Royal at 11:30 a.m., Dalgleish turned in three victories on successive draws. He also eliminated Harold Ritchie from the Challenge 10-8, and wound up the day with a close 9-7 decision over Parm Robarts in the King Edward on the 4:30 draw.

Glen Williams defeated Bill Gray 7-6 after a tight battle in the Challenge and he won from G. R. Sharp of Sexsmith by a score of 10-8 in the King Edward on the last draw.

C. A. Runyon of Viking, who along with A. Banks of Forestburg had been inadvertently omitted from the list of undefeated rinks Tuesday night, maintained his winning stride yesterday with a pair of victories to boost his string of seven. Runyon beat Olsen of Holden 7-5 in the Challenge and Brock of Grimshaw 11-5 in the King Edward.

George McLaughlin pumped Frank Wolfe out of the Challenge with a 6-3 victory on the 11:30 draw, this being Wolfe's initial loss. McLaughlin won from Larson of LaGlace 10-5 in the King Edward.

Wolfe's second defeat was administered by Hanbidge of Kerrobert, in the King Edward, the score being 8-6.

Manahan won from E. B. Olsen 11-6 at 11:30 in the Challenge, but Wolfe took him out of the King Edward 10-8 on the 2 p.m. draw.

Billy Rose lost his first game of the day to Whit Matthews by a score of 11-8, this being in the Challenge, but he came back to beat Flynn of Dawson Creek by the same count and won from Hay of Lacombe in the Visitors.

With five straight wins up to Tuesday night, Banks of Forestburg added two more to his list on Wednesday before losing to "Stew" Chamney of Provost in the Visitors 10-8. He won from Woodin of the Granite 10-9 in 11 ends in the Challenge and from Merner of Wetaskiwin 9-8 in the King Edward.

E. B. Olsen of the Royal lost to Manahan 11-6, but came back with a 12-10 win over Bill Dunbar in the King Edward.

Bert Robertson of the Granite beat Anderson of LaGlace 12-7 in the Challenge, but dropped a 9-5 game to A. Aspol of Pouce Coupe in the King Edward on the 4:30 draw.

Following are yesterday's complete results.

Babe Ruth . . . 51 . . . out of baseball, but on top of the world.

Celebrates 51st Birthday

Fans Wonder Why Babe Ruth Never Became a Manager

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Surrounded by intimates, George Herman Ruth celebrated his 51st birthday on Wednesday in his Riverside Drive apartment home. Babe Ruth passing another milestone again brings up the question that has been asked in baseball oftener than any other since the Sultan of Swat was quietly side-tracked following a rather sad experience with the Boston Braves 10 years ago.

Why can't the game he saved following the lamentable Black Sox scandal of 1919 find a place for its most spectacular figure?

What's wrong with the Bam?

At a time when organized baseball is frankly worried about its survival and seeking a new commissioner to replace the late Judge Landis, Ruth, still the sport's most popular idol, isn't given the slightest tumble in any department.

RUTH YEARNS TO BE BACK

Ruth lives comfortably on the income from his tremendous baseball earnings. During the summer he conducts a 13-week national radio program for boys which pays him more than any baseball job could pay him. Because he does not chose to travel under wartime restrictions, he rejects rich offers for personal appearances, confining those to boys' clubs and such and turns for friends.

If he made any more money, income tax departments would only take it away from him, anyway, yet Ruth yearns to be back in the game he rebuilt as he established the Yankee Stadium.

If ever a player richly deserved the opportunity to manage a club, Ruth was entitled to the chance with the Yankees.

Yet the closest he ever came was a suggestion by the late Col. Jacob Ruppert that he first prove himself in Newark. At that time, the Bambino couldn't see why he should be demoted to the minors.

BABE NEVER HAD OFFER

Despite reports to the contrary, Ruth says he was never made any kind of an offer to manage a major league club. The late Frank J. Navin telephoned him in San Francisco as he was about to sail for Honolulu in the fall of 1933, said something about wanting to see the old home run king.

Ruth was under contract to appear in Hawaii, however, and when he returned Mickey Cochrane was manager of the Detroit Tigers.

"I asked for the mangement of the Yankees when Miller Huggins died," relates Ruth, "but Colonel Ruppert and Ed. Barrows (the Babe always pronounces Barrow with an s) told me they did not believe I should manage while I was playing.

"So it was Bob Shawkey for a year, and I knew I was finished when Barrows brought in Joe McCarthy, who was fired by the Cubs simultaneously with Shawkey's release by the Yankees. It was Barrows, you see, who installed McCarthy in Louisville and recommended him to the Cubs."

BAMBINO WOULD MANAGE

What kind of a baseball post would Ruth want now?

"Anything but a desk job," he replies.

Would he manage a club on the field?

"What else? But I'd have to have a free hand."

Would it have to be a big league assignment?

"Not necessarily, but I would prefer a big league club."

Would Ruth make a good manager?

"The Babe never made a bad play, such as throwing to the wrong base," testified Connie Mack. "He was as popular with teammates as he was with the crowd."

Fans wonder why there isn't a berth for Ruth.

So does Babe Ruth.

New Orleans Open To Start Friday

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, the Toledo, O., master of the links, will enter the $5,000 New Orleans open Friday with an average of 69.4 for 36 rounds of golf in nine tournaments.

Nelson's amazing consistency this winter made him top money winner in 1944 with more than $40,000 and has built a stack of currency totalling $5,799 since Jan. 1. He has done no worse than a tie for second in five tournaments this year, and won at San Francisco, Phoenix and Corpus Christi.

Goalie Milner Stars In 6-5 Win

EAC Juniors Hand Canadians Initial Defeat of the Season

By CECIL GOLDSTICK

Behind the sterling net-minding of Simon "Sparky" Milner, Bill Drever's EAC's went all out at the Arena last night and in 60 minutes of the "fightingest" hockey seen here for some time, handed Edmonton's league-leading Canadians a 6-5 defeat, their first of the season, before almost 1,000 wildly-cheering fans.

Young Milner probably saw pucks in his sleep all last night. While having dame fortune on his side several times, he moved like lightning to save on other occasions and was the most relieved person in the big ice palace when he heard the final bell sound. Altogether he had a total of 46 shots driven his way and the five that got by him were all well-earned markers. Don Murray made 23 stops in Canucks' goal.

While finishing on the short end of the score, although holding command of a play most of the sixty minutes, the league leaders never gave up trying and showed they are a club that will go down fighting, if go down they must. You ask the EAC netminder about this if there is any doubt about it. Canadian sharpshooters were in on his doorstep no less than 12 times during the last ten minutes of the contest.

However, no credit should be taken away from the second place EAC club. The boys worked hard all night for the honor of being the first club to knock over the powerful Canadians this season and they can be justly proud of their victory.

EIGHT SHARE IN GOALS

Goal getters for the winners were Don Benkie, Bill Pettinger with a pair each and Neil Wilson and Bobbie Manson with a single. Top sniper for the losers was Don Campbell with a brace, while Dougie Anderson, Cyril Thomas, and John Rypien notched the others between them.

Shortly after the three-minute mark in the opening period, the Clarence Moher-coached club moved into the lead when Jimmy Slugg passed one behind the EAC net to Eddie Thomas, who relayed it to Don Campbell in front, who finished the play. Less than three minutes later Art Kaleta drove a waist-high shot from the side. Milner knocked it down while in sprawling position, but with the rubber laying loose, Dougie Anderson pushed it into the empty cage to put his club two up. Don Benkie cut the lead to one when he poked in Bobby Manson's rebound for the EAC first tally.

CLUBMEN TAKE LEAD

Going into the middle stanza trailing by one, the blue and gold aggregation deadlocked the count at 2-2 when "Kilby" McDonald passed ahead to Manson from inside their opponents' blue-line with the latter driving home his own rebound. Just 40 seconds later Pettinger let go a long shot from the blue-line and turned the red light on with Murray's view being obstructed by a maze of players in front of him, to put the Dreverites in front for the first time of the evening.

Benkie soon added another, it being of the cheap variety. Leading a rush down the right boards he let one go along the ice from just over the Canadian line and as Murray went to bat it out the puck rolled in over his big goalstick.

A minute later Eddie Thomas drew the first penalty of the game for highsticking and the EAC put the pressure on and they held a three-goal lead when Wilson slapped in Pettinger's pass from behind the goal. Cyril Thomas, taking Vince Bannon's neat pass from the corner shortened the lead to two.

Just before the end of the frame Cyril Thomas was given a 10-minute misconduct penalty by Referee Bill Runge.

PUT ON THE PRESSURE

Coming out for the final stanza the Canadians, realizing they were two goals in arrears, showed plenty of fight and twice came within reach of knotting up the count. John Rypien shifted around the EAC rearguard and went in alone to beat Milner with a shot to the upper right-hand corner to make the scoreboard read 5-4. At 13:55 Ray Moore broke fast with Pettinger and being forced over to the left boards he passed over to his teammate who again gave the EAC a two-goal margin.

Several times after this the Moherites kept putting on the steam. Their power attack looked smooth enough, but Milner's good work plus poor finishing, prevented flashing on the light. Both Slugg and Bannon were in enough to win 10 hockey games.

During the last 10 minutes Campbell was in five times after being set up, with just Milner to beat, but beat the little goalie just once, at 16:40, with McDonald off for kneeing. Three times during the last period the Canucks had a man advantage.

During the dying seconds big Bill Gadsby, who worked like a trojan during the whole game was set up in front of the net but Milner came out sprawling, and with a loose puck laying around, managed to hold out the rebound.

More than a million Mexican Indians cannot speak Spanish.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP)—There seemed to be a slight difference of opinion between baseball and hockey spokesmen over what should and what shouldn't be done for them to ease the manpower situation.

Baseball, which on the surface seems to have more to worry about than the ice game in the matter of possible loss of players, doesn't seem to be worrying unduly—at least if you judge by what President Ford Frick of the national league said the other day.

Refuting rumors that the US national pastime would ask Washington to let 4-F men keep on playing ball instead of going into other lines of endeavor, Frick turned thumbs down on the idea. Apparently, he believes there will be enough men to keep the game going—after a fashion—even if these players are sent to the official showers.

That's quite a different story from Maj. Conn Smythe's request that 150 hockey players be made available for play in the coming season. Apart from the recent selective service order forbidding discharged men without overseas service playing in games south of the border, the NHL hasn't been fenced in to any appreciable extent.

Of course, the league itself last year imposed a rule preventing anyone belaboring the puck around the NHL circuit unless he was either military exempt or had his proper clearance papers from selective service—war work departments barred.

Skiing Experts To Compete Here

Many top-notch skiers will be providing the thrills and spills at the ski-jumping and slalom-racing exhibitions to be held here on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This event will be held at the Edmonton Ski Club's hill at Connor's Road.

Among the highly-rated performers competing will be Barney McLean of Colorado, national combined champion in 1942, who has a record jump of 250 feet; Dick Movite of Denver, slalom downhill racing expert, and Per Stolu of New York, who learned his skiing in Norway. Many other experts are expected to make this event an outstanding one.

AAC Move Into First-Place Tie Varsity Hockey

Led by Ron Nattress and Frank Quigley with two goals each, Arts-Ag-Com came from behind to defeat Med-Pharm-Dents 5-2 Wednesday and move into a first place tie with Engineers in the University of Alberta Inter-Faculty Hockey League.

Nattress gave the winners the lead early in the first period, but by the time the session was just a little over the half way mark, Bruce MacKay rifled home two and put the Med-Pharm-Dents ahead 2-1. Quigley came right back for the Arts, however, and moved them out in front by netting two markers.

The winners were never in real danger after that. They added another in the second period by Duncan to make it 4-2 and then Nattress clinched the verdict in the last frame on a play with Lamoureaux.

LINEUPS

Arts-Ag-Com: Ritchie, Colter, Duncan, Quigley, Nattress, Lamoureaux, Fraser, Reid, Baptie.

Currie's Second Defeat

Mustangs Finally Halt Army In Alberta Services League

CALGARY, Alta. Feb.8.—(CP)—It took six games before RCAF Mustangs recorded a victory over the Alberta Service Senior Hockey League leaders, Currie Army, but the airmen finally came through triumphantly by a 4-2 score here Wednesday night.

Mustangs assumed a 2-1 lead in the first period and boosted their advantage to 4-2 during the second. The hectic third period was scoreless. Penalties were costly for the Army as three of their opponents' goals were scored when they had a player serving a penalty.

Bob Brownridge (2), Archie Wilder and Art Michaluk scored for the winners, while Alex. Kaleta and Max Bentley tallied for the losers.

Outstanding player of the game was Ken "Red" Hunter, who, in addition to assisting for three of the goals, did some sensational checking to stop Army attacks before they got under way. Bill Dertell was another bright star for Airmen with two assists.

It was Army's second loss of the winter. They dropped a 3-4 decision to Navy on Nov. 29, but still have a five point lead over Mustangs.

Tilson Memorial Is OHA Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Jim Coleman, Toronto Globe and Mail sport columnist, Wednesday offered a trophy to be awarded annually to the most gentlemanly player in the Ontario Hockey Association junior series.

Making the offer in his column, Coleman said the trophy would be known as the Red Tilson memorial trophy in memory of Albert (Red) Tilson, who came from Regina to play hockey with the Oshawa Generals in the OHA, and was killed in action overseas last year.

Tilson was on the roster of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

Civil Service Bonspiel Starts Next Wednesday

The annual Civil Service bonspiel is to be played this year at the Alberta Ave. and Granite rinks commencing on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 14, and continuing on Saturday, Feb. 17 with consolation finals on Saturday, Feb. 24.

Three draws will be played on Ash Wednesday at 9 a.m., 12 noon and 3 p.m., with two draws on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

All civil servants are eligible to play but shortage of playing ice necessitates limiting of the entries to the first 24 rinks to register.

To encourage the entry of civil servants from outlying points and those who do not curl regularly, not more than two players who are members of an Edmonton curling club this season, may play on any rink.

Entries are to be forwarded to A. H. Taylor, 525 Administration Building, telephone 916370, not later than noon, Feb. 10.

MAPLE LEAFS and EAC (2) cinched playoff berths in the City Midget Hockey League Wednesday night, both winning their ninth game. Maple Leafs defeated EAC (1) 4-2 at 119 Street and EAC (2) won 4-1 from Canadians (2) at the Stadium rink. In the other game Mapleos turned back Canadians (1) 5-1 at the 101 Street ice.

The results of last night's games left Maple Leafs and EAC South Side tied at the top with 18 points, EAC (1) next with 12 points and Canadians (2) and Mapleos right behind with 11 points each. EAC (1), Canadians (2) and Mapleos are battling for the third playoff spot.

After allowing EAC (1) to tally first, Maple Leafs put on the pressure and rapped in three goals in the initial period to go ahead 3-1 in the 119 Street contest and then cinched the tilt in the third when Kent Watson scored on a three-way play with Dennis Smith and Jim Stewart. Elwood Shell, who collected both the Clubmen's markers unassisted, cut the margin before the period ended, but the Leafs held them after that to gain their victory.

Ken Watson led the Maple Leafs with three goals while linemate Jim Stewart picked up four assists. Dennis Smith got the other counter in addition to assisting on his team's last goal.

Labor Minister Is Much in Favor of Wartime Hockey

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said Wednesday in an interview that he always has been "very much in favor" of hockey games in wartime because some recreation was necessary.

He said he and his department had "always got along well" with the National Hockey League in matters of hockey and hockey players and that the league understood the department must fill quotas of men for the army, after which it was "glad to do what we can to encourage clean sport."

Arthur MacNamara, director of selective service, said he had received no communication from the NHL, which was reported Monday night to have decided to ask the federal government to make available for major and minor hockey 300 players who were not eligible for military service.

Mervin (Red) Dutton, NHL president, was in Ottawa yesterday but left the city without approaching either Mr. Mitchell or Mr. MacNamara.

"We are glad to discuss hockey with Mr. Dutton or directors of the NHL any time," said Mr. MacNamara. "I recall distinctly that the league directors seemed quite well satisfied with regulations when they were making up their teams at the start of the season."

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The rejuvenated Pittsburgh Hornets notched their fourth triumph in succession by trouncing the Hershey Bears 7-3 in an American Hockey League game before 3,000 last night.

Sparked by Roland (Rosy) Rossignol who scored three goals, the Hornet skaters swamped the Bears with a flurry of five goals in the first period.

Pennock Confident Majors to Operate

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Baseball, says Herb Pennock, is here to stay—for another season, at least.

The Phillies' general manager said he was "confident" that the major leagues will operate as usual this year. He didn't amplify the statement, but he did give it weight by mailing out 32 player contracts and announcing that the club has found new hotel headquarters for a spring training season opening March 15 in Wilmington, Del.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, stands out today as a logical candidate for the high commissioner office in baseball because, in addition to other qualifications, he is best equipped to combat gambling—to keep the sport clean.

A man who can crack down with the "big stick" is needed now in the commissioner's office—needed more than at any time since the wave of gambling that followed the First World War resulted in the Black Sox scandal and the appointment of the late Kenesaw M. Landis to the job in 1920.

Landis kept the sport clean as a whistle. Even his severest critics never challenged that. But the old judge died last Nov. 25—shortly before the sports world was smacked on the nose by the realization that professional and amateur athletics are now menaced by the greatest gambling surge in the nation's history. This tremendous wave of wagering is a by-product of the prosperity accompanying World War No. 2. It was reflected in the staggering total of $1,126,308,645, bet at U.S. race tracks during 1944.

SPORTS WORLD JOLTED

THE recent Brooklyn college basketball scandal, in which five players admitted having conspired with gamblers to "throw" a game for money, jolted the sports world into quick realization that the menace from crooked gamblers had passed the rumor stage. Now the various sports are taking steps to protect themselves. College officials and basketball promoters are vigilantly trying to keep gamblers away from games and particularly away from the players.

Chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York boxing commission has requested promoter Mike Jacobs to keep Madison Square Garden's lobby clear of all loiterers. The international baseball league decided to refrain from issuing the names of probable pitchers during the '45 season; the American league will do likewise, and the national league probably will.

However, these preventive measures are but minor gestures, compared to the warning smash that could be dealt gambling on sport by the election of J. Edgar Hoover as commissioner of our national pastime. He could keep baseball clean by dusting the gamblers out with a blackjack. He's a guy who fights fire with fire—using lethal as well as legal weapons, as Dillinger, Machine-gun Kelly, Pretty Boy Floyd, Elvin Karpis and the Nazi saboteirs found out. His election could not only warn gamblers and players that the game must be kept clean, but it would bring new assurance to the public that, despite the death of Landis, the club owners were determined that baseball should continue as forthright entertainment.

HAS QUALIFICATIONS

IT is important that organized baseball maintain this inviolable status, because the diamond game is the keystone of our entire sports structure, as far as public confidence is concerned.

Fifty-year old Hoover, after directing the F.B.I. for 31 years, certainly could wield the big stick. Moreover, he seems to have all other qualifications needed for the commissioner's job. He has proved an efficient executive—a great organizer. He is legal-trained; and it was he who insisted that all F.B.I. agents have legal training. Moreover, he is an ardent sports fan—baseball, football and boxing.

Whether Hoover wants the job, or whether he would be available for the position in wartime, we do not know. The salary of $50,000 and the sports associations might tempt him. But if he'll take the post, the club owners should grab him in a hurry; particularly now that there seems no chance of electing anyone connected with the game.

Winnipeg Rangers Defeat CUAC 5-4

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Winnipeg Rangers, second-place holders in the Manitoba junior hockey, south division, edged out Canadian Ukrainian Athletic Club, north division, 5-4 here last night.

Walt Hergesheimer, Vern Smith, Hanz Anthey, Gene Zakala and Tony Safnik, scored for Rangers. Pop Pauk, Bud Mandrick, Nick Mickoski and Jim McDougall tallied for CUAC.

Five Hundred Curlers Attend Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of the Alberta Curling Association held in the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday was attended by 500, "the largest gathering of curlers ever assembled in Alberta," according to President Parm Robarts, who presided at the function.

Following the presidential address, Hon. W. A. Fallow welcomed the curlers to Edmonton on behalf of the Alberta government, in the absence of Premier E. C. Manning. Ald. H. D. Ainlay represented the city of Edmonton on behalf of Mayor John W. Fry.

Other speakers were Asst. Commissioner W. F. W. Hancock of the RCMP, Secretary James A. McCool and Henry Trimble, now in Calgary, but formerly of Lacombe, who was presented with a life membership in the Alberta Curling Association by President Robarts.

Fred Kemp proposed the toast to the visitors and it was replied to by Rev. E. B. Brundage of Daysland.

Entertainment features were provided by William Smith and Ed McGarvey, soloists and William Betts, magician.

George Laight of the Edmonton Curling Club is chairman of the entertainment committee of the Association.

Buffalo Breaks Losing Streak

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Buffalo Bisons broke a four-game losing streak by downing Providence Reds, 4-2, in an American Hockey League game played before 5,920 spectators Wednesday night.

George Pargeter and Gerry Bellemarre exchanged goals in the first period, and Roger Leger came back to give the Bisons a 2-1 lead. Bellmarre's second goal tied the score again in the second. With the Reds' Stan Kemp in the penalty box, Doug Lewis set up the tie-breaking goal, circling the cage and relaying to Wimpy Jones. Paul Mundrick's tally capped a three-man rush in the final period.

Paul Courteau, the league's leading scorer, assisted on each of the Providence goals.

District News In Brief

V-Bomb Crashing Near Airdrome Disturbs Peace of Airman's Life

WETASKIWIN: As an aero engine mechanic stationed in various parts of the British Isles, LAC. John Arthur Duitman didn't expect to run into very much action. Action was looking for him, however, and his peace, together with a lot of other things, was rudely shattered one afternoon when a Nazi V-bomb zoomed out of the skies to crash into the ground less than a mile from where the young airman was working.

LAC. J. A. DUITMAN

"That was my closest call," Duitman told correspondents, "although I did see a number of minor actions."

LAC. Duitman came home recently to spend some leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Duitman. His father is associated with the John Deere farm implement firm here. He has been in the RCAF since June, 1941 and has seen service in Canada, England, Scotland and Wales.

ONE OF BUSIEST

As aero engine mechanic, he was one of those "grease monkeys" who are probably the busiest men on any operational airdrome, his work involving constant care of the aircraft engines that draw mighty armadas across Nazi territory.

He found the British people very hospitable to Canadians. "All the same, Wetaskiwin looks pretty good right now," he smiled. He noticed a lot of changes in the old home town on his return.

The airman was born at Haynes, in 1920, and was educated at Wetaskiwin. Prior to enlisting, he worked with his father, and while at school was a member of the high school curling club. He took his air force training at St. Thomas, Ont.

Mrs. A. Brunner of Wetaskiwin and Mrs. M. O. Spencer of Vancouver are sisters. A third sister, Dorothy, is with the civil service at Ottawa.

—V—

When the Nazis retreated from Belgium they wrecked more than 200 bridges across the Albert canal to prevent Allied use of this important waterway.

Maybe This Is Just Bad Luck Or Maybe Fate

WETASKIWIN: This can be filed under "fate".

Flight Sgt. Johnny Haas spent three years overseas as a member of an operational aircrew. He went out on numerous sorties where a piece of enemy flak might have brought his career to a sudden end. But it didn't.

Or an enemy gunner might have "tattooed" him. But he didn't. Finally the airman was granted a furlough at home. And here, in the peace of his home town he prepared to enjoy himself away from the dangers of the front.

He's now in hospital recovering from a broken collar-bone resulting from a curling match.

School Division Wetaskiwin Cut

WETASKIWIN: Reduction in the Wetaskiwin school division has been announced, eight schools having been transferred to the Strawberry division a separate inspectorate. The transferred schools are: Winfield, Antross, Society, Norbuck, Whenham Valley, Seattle, Fisherton and Fern Creek. Basic salary will be $1,000 for the initial term.

Under supervision of Mrs. T. A. Palfrey, a Cadet Ranger company has been formed. Officers include captain, Mrs. Palfrey; lieutenant, Miss Calvin; patrol leaders, Doris Oswald and Marie Oswald; scribe, Donna Gillespie, and treasurer, Jacqueline Desharnais. Meeting will be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

With an objective of $400 for the year, the students at Weiler school have sold $286 in war saving stamps to date. There are 22 pupils, and the teacher is L. W. Wilson.

Wetaskiwin Pioneer Saving and Credit Union has reported a financial increase for the year from $1,777.99 to $4,093.70. R. E. Sheller and E. Peterson were re-elected to the board of directors and P. Kolmatycki to the credit commission. Mrs. Walter Groves is treasurer.

A funeral service was held for Herman Edwards, 64, resident of the city for 21 years and employee of Alberta Government Telephones for the last 35 years. Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Irene Heslup and Mrs. J. Plum; three sons, AB. Earl Edwards, RCNVR, Robert and James; and one grandson.

Mrs. Emma B. Andrew, died after a brief illness. She was 73 years old. She was born in England and came to Canada with her husband in 1912. A funeral service was held at the Anglican church, with the Rev. W. T. Elkin in charge.

At a congregational dinner at First United Church, plans were made to purchase a pipe-organ. The Women's Auxiliary, with the president, Mrs. O. Massing and Mrs. A. Rodell, were conveners.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Collicutt have received word their son, Pte. Leo Collicutt is serving overseas. FO. R. Erickson, who has completed a tour of operations and six months instructional duty overseas, has been posted to Edmonton. LS. Ross Lemon, RCNVR, was home on leave. Cpl. M. L. Howarth, RCAF (WD) visited her mother, Mrs. W. Howarth.

Union Bazaar

WILLINGDON: Local branch of the Alberta Farmers' Union staged a bazaar when winners of draws were Metro Romanko, Jennie Pilipiuk and Nestor Fasenko. The junior hockey team defeated Two Hills 8-4. Mundare defeated the junior 6-1. Two teams of Mundare curlers were defeated here by the local rinks.

THIS ARMY—"Cut out the singin', I can't hear a thing the O'Pip's sayin'."

Cadets Receive Drill, Lessons From Army NCO

WILLINGDON: The high school cadets were told that a sergeant-major from Edmonton was on his way down from "headquarters" to give them a going-over. And as is the way in the Army, they promptly began to tremble in their GI boots.

But the visit of CQSI. C. C. Huckvale from the capital city's Prince of Wales armory turned out very pleasantly in spite of misgivings. The visitor addressed the officer and NCO cadets, outlining the meaning of Army rank and discipline. After which he drilled them and gave them lessons on the use of the Bren gun.

A second visit to the Willingdon cadets will be made in April, with further instructions on the use of small arms and grenades.

Annual Meet at Anglican Church

HARDISTY: The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the congregation at St. Mark's Anglican Church: vicar's warden, J. French; people's warden, A. Cline; secretary, J. Trupp; treasurer, C. Bulmer; auditor, R. Carpenter; vestry, E. Fowler, Mrs. J. French, B. Matthews.

The Maturchuck rink defeated the Murray and Nokelby rinks at a high school curling bonspiel which will be continued Saturday.

Engineer Edward Hall slipped on the ice along Main street and suffered a broken ankle. He was treated here and later proceeded to his home in Edmonton. Mrs. Frank Wensley sprained her ankle when she fell on the ice.

Japanese Shelled Freed Internees

By RALPH TEATSORTH
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, Feb. 8.—(BUP)—Japanese yesterday shelled Santo Thomas and Bilibid internment camps where thousands of Allied civilian internees and prisoners of war are being sheltered.

Bombardment of the camps continued sporadically throughout the day.

The internees and prisoners had remained in the two camps pending completion of the mop-up of Japanese resistance inside the city of Manila.

In mid-afternoon, the Japanese scored at least four direct hits on the main university building at Santo Tomas. A shell dropped directly in front of the entrance of the main building at Bilibid.

The internees of Bilibid originally had been evacuated two nights ago when fire swept that portion of the city.

Supply Problem!

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Russian troops besieging Koenigsberg have a new supply problem—the huge capacity of a big, gray elephant and the nagging insistence for tidbits from a swarm of monkeys in the zoological gardens at the outskirts of the East Prussian capital. A field dispatch said the Russians had a large menagerie to feed—and the animals acted as though they had not been fed by German caretakers for days.

Military Policeman in U.S. Army Is Familiar With Nazi Trickery

PFC Karl Gaerisch is one fellow who could warn Allied leaders at the Big Three conference now in session to decide the fate of Germany that they had better make very certain that the Nazis never get any kind of a chance to rearm.

PFC Gaerisch now a military policeman at the USAAF, Edmonton base, knows all about German trickery at its worst, because he himself was a victim of it away back in 1924.

Gaerisch has been AWOL from the German army for 21 years.

Recently Karl told the true story to the editor of the Air Base Beacon, edited by Sgt. W. O. Willis.

PFC KARL GAERISCH

GAME WARDEN

Serving as a government game warden, in the days of the Weimar Republic, Gaerisch was totally unaware of the fact he had been secretly drafted into the camouflaged White Germany Army to serve for a term of three years. At the time the Treaty of Versailles forbade anything but a nominal Germany army full particulars of which was supposed to be in the hands of the Allies.

His father then in America as a member of the famed New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, had secured his son a steamship ticket and passport for the U.S.A.

Just before being ordered to report for the army Gaerisch received the passport and ticket.

Obtaining a 24-hour pass from his CO, Gaerisch went aboard a liner at Bremerhaven.

The ship sailed and by the time his pass expired he was in Cherbourg, where he tossed overboard a Luger pistol, his last reminder of the furtive German Army.

U.S. CITIZEN

Working hard in the USA he obtained full citizenship and gladly answered his country's call for military service in September, 1942.

PFC Gaerisch takes his duty seriously, and while on guard at the motor pool, halted an "illegal" use of a vehicle by firing a shot into the car.

Gaerisch is prevented from getting into action because of his age, being 40.

Recently he married an Edmonton girl and considers himself more or less of a Canadian.

He's not greatly worried about being 21 years absent from his German Army unit.

Careful . . . . Crossing the Street

For Safety's sake, take your time crossing the streets. It's slippery underfoot and this makes it twice as hard for cars to stop quickly. So be sure you have time to cross before traffic reaches you. Better wait on the sidewalk—than in the hospital.

Officials Discuss Next Victory Loan

Plans for the payroll savings campaign in Edmonton for the Eighth Victory Loan drive in April will be discussed at a meeting here Thursday.

R. R. Brough, chairman, and S. B. Phipps, vice-chairman of the payroll section for Alberta, arrived in the city Thursday morning to confer with H. M. E. Evans, chairman, Northern Alberta War Finance Committee, and R. V. Price, chairman of the committee for Edmonton.

After the conference here the Calgary officials will leave for Ottawa to attend a meeting of the National War Finance Committee, at which plans for the campaign will be outlined.

Mr. Brough, asked if the date of the loan had been fixed, said that he had not received any information of the definite date, but expressed the opinion it would start toward the end of April.

V

Edmonton clearing house figures for the week-ended Feb. 8, 1945, were: $8,816,991.06. For the same period of 1944 the amount was: $9,013,198.40.

Suspend Drive Obtain Clothes For Russians

As a result of a decision by the Dominion government, the campaign to raise clothes for Russia which has been in progress since Feb. 2 has been suspended, officials announced on Thursday.

W. A. MacDonald, chairman of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Council, sponsor of the drive, expressed his thanks to all who had contributed or assisted.

He made the following statement:

It is with regret that I find it necessary, under regulations of the Dominion government, to terminate the used clothing campaign now being conducted by the Edmonton branch of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Council, in aid to Russia. However, there is no alternative.

GREAT SUCCESS

The campaign has been a great success. A very large quantity of good used clothing, blankets and other bodily comforts have been donated from all parts of this area, and many huge shipping crates containing such articles have been shipped from Edmonton to Vancouver where they now await transshipment to Russia via Vladivostok.

In closing this campaign I wish to thank all those who have been so generous in their contributions of clothing. I also desire to thank all those who contributed so splendidly in the conduct of the campaign, and in this connection I mention particularly the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross and its manager, Mr. Muir. I also wish to thank all the volunteers of the Red Cross organization who worked so splendidly in receiving, sorting and packing the clothing brought in.

Special thanks are due to Mrs. Roy Harrison, who headed these volunteer workers. The Council is also grateful to Mr. Healy of Healy Motors Limited for the use of space as a receiving depot. Western Transfer was also most helpful in carting the shipping crates to the railways.

FINE WORK

I desire to express the appreciation of the council to the railways and many trucking companies who co-operated so enthusiastically and to such splendid effect in carrying contributions from outlying points into Edmonton, and in the final job of carrying large shipments to Vancouver, all free of charge.

The campaign is now concluded and the receiving depot will be closed as quickly as contributions on hand can be sorted, packed and shipped to the coast.

Gasoline Explodes: Worker Is Injured

Suffering burns about the right arm, face and chest, as a result of an explosion of gasoline at the civic garage, 96 street and 105A avenue, about 1 a.m. Thursday, William Walker, 42-year-old employee of the garage, of 9358 103A avenue, was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital in a police patrol car. A call sent to Fire Halls 2 and 5 brought firemen to the scene, but the flames had already been brought under control.

According to city police, another employee of the garage, R. McEachern, had set a pail of gasoline on the floor at the rear of the building and was turning away when an explosion occurred.

Mr. Walker was working around the buses at the time, and seizing a broom, attempted to move the burning gasoline by running the broom-handle through the handle of the pail. While so doing, he received his injuries.

The fire had been brought under control by the time firemen arrived. Mr. Walker's condition was said at the hospital to be "all right."

V

Engineer Back From Inspection

A. W. Haddow, city engineer, returned to his office Thursday following a visit to Seattle, where he inspected steel-deck bridges used by the Seattle Transportation Commission on routes over which trolley buses are operated.

This type of deck probably will be used on the deck of the high level bridge when the conversion from street railway to trolley bus operation is carried out, Mr. Haddow stated.

It will give the maximum of safety in operation, he said, adding that since the high level bridge was constructed in 1913 there has not been a single street car accident on it.

Found guilty of failing to report to an alternative service camp as ordered, Clifford K. McKee, 37-year-old conscientious objector of Grande Prairie was sentenced Tuesday to three months' imprisonment and ordered to be taken to Kananaskis work camp at the completion of the term, according to Selective Service headquarters in Edmonton Thursday.

The hearing was held before Magistrate A. E. Galway of Grande Prairie.

Police Discover Small Menagerie

Called to Investigate Complaint

Including Three Lions, One Bear

HOME ON LEAVE.—Cpl. Robert F. Kirkwood, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kirkwood, 10747 104 street, is spending three days' leave with his parents. He enlisted in 1939, and has been stationed at points in Western Canada. Two brothers are also in the armed forces.

Edmonton may be a long way north but that is no indication that nothing found in the African jungle or the British Columbia mountains won't be found here. That's what police think, at least, after finding at the home of a South Edmonton resident, Tuesday afternoon, no less than three lions and a bear—all very much alive.

Police investigated a complaint of a housewife who would not give her name. Arriving at the residence, officers found the small menagerie was a fact, and were told by the owner that the animals were kept for exhibition purposes only.

LIONS IN CAGE

The lions, it was stated, were confined to a cage of heavy-gauge steel mesh with heavy canvas cover on the outside, while the bear was chained in a small pen made of wood and metal.

The premises were recently inspected by the city health department and found to be in good order, the owner told officers.

80.9 Hours Sunshine During Last Month

Highest temperature recorded during the month of January was 40.2 degrees above zero and the lowest was 23.7 degrees below, it was indicated in the monthly report issued from the Edmonton meteorological office. The mean temperature of 10.6 degrees was above the normal mean temperature of 6.4.

At the end of the month there were 10 inches of snow on the ground and snowfall during January totalled 18.5 inches. Hours of bright sunshine totalled 80.9 hours.

January, 1944, had a record number of 140 hours of bright sunshine, the greatest total since 1919.

The annual summary of weather issued from the meteorological office reported there were 127 frost-free days during 1944. The last heavy frost in the early summer was May 11 and the first heavy frost in the autumn was Sept. 30. There were 28 days with fog during the year and one day with hail. The first thunderstorm of the year occurred on May 15 and there were storms on 23 days.

Ice break-up in the Saskatchewan river occurred on April 4 at 3:50 p.m., the second earliest break-up since 1881. The earliest was April 4 at 11:40 a.m. in 1930.

The average monthly wind speed during 1944 was 9 miles an hour compared to the normal, for seven years, of 8.6 miles an hour.

V

Street Railway Traffic Gains

Traffic on Edmonton's street railway continues to increase, and January, 1945, shows an increase of 24,259 over the record of 2,907,711 achieved during January last year, it was announced Thursday by Thomas Ferrier, street railway superintendent. Traffic on the system during January this year was 2,925,970 passengers.

Mr. Ferrier said that continuous snow during January this year contributed to the increase in patronage. He added that on present indications the total of 32,000,000 passengers using the system in 1944 will be maintained during this year.

To Make Appraisal Of Four Buildings

Appraisal of four buildings erected by the Department of National Defence at the Vermilion Agricultural School will be made by Arthur Arnold, representatives here of the National Housing Act administration, preparatory to the returning of the school and grounds to the provincial government.

The school was turned over to the department for use as a training centre for the CWAC. The buildings to be appraised are a drill hall, dormitory and two other buildings.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Assuming that Edmonton's street railway system could be improved within the bounds of the current manpower and labor shortage, what do you think would be the best means of doing so?

THE ANSWERS

HARRY WEBBER, insurance agent: I believe the street car system at present falls down badly with regard to the Highlands service.

* * *

S. McGILLIVRAY, student: I think there should be a definite limit placed on the number of persons each car should hold, and after that limit has been reached, no more passengers should be allowed aboard. One of these days there is going to be an accident due to overcrowding.

* * *

EDWIN WARD, clerk: I think the problem would be materially reduced without worrying about shortages, simply by the citizens' adopting a more patient attitude toward tram riding. It seems to me there are too many short-tempered people whose one idea is to get somewhere on a tram and the heck with the other fellow.

The Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" drive early in April, Len Aldridge, the president, announced at a meeting Wednesday in the Macdonald.

The annual campaign sponsored in co-operation with the city engineer's department and other city groups, to promote cleaning up and beautification of properties in Edmonton, had been cancelled the last two years because of the war.

Ald. C. E. Gariepy, who attended the meeting, said he felt sure the mayor and the city departments would co-operate in the campaign this year.

Four new members were introduced at the meeting by Jack Weber.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Naming Baby Is Most Important; Needs Care

Giving Children Odd Names Can Have Bad Effect on Personalities, Characters; Parents Should be Careful

Now that the country's biggest bumper crop of babies is about to be christened, I am moved to make a heart-felt plea to parents to give some serious consideration to the monicker they are about to wish on their helpless offspring.

Of course, it is a matter of common knowledge that naming the baby is a dangerous and hazardous undertaking in which one has to step warily among family prejudices and jealousies and traditions, and that any mother and father who can do it without giving mortal offense to the relatives on one side or the other is qualified to be Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to any court in Europe.

Probably no other one thing has started more domestic rows and caused more bitterness and hard feelings than naming Junior. For Mama thinks that inasmuch as she "borned" him she has a right to call him after her family, but, if she does, her in-laws never feel the some towards her; whereas if Papa insists on his right to bestow upon the youngster his family brand, Mama's people look upon him as a brute and a tyrant who has no regard for mother's feelings.

Now naming the baby is no inconsequential matter for, Mr. Shakespeare to the contrary, nevertheless, it is something that profoundly affects the bearer of it through life and does much to shape his destiny and determine his happiness. An ugly name can grate on the nerves of an individual every day of his life. An incongruous name can be a heavy handicap, while a silly name can make him a laughing stock.

So for these reasons parents should be guided not by Grandma's and Grandpa's vanity in desiring namesake, or by their own romantic fancies, or by their admiration for some current hero, in picking out their children's names, but by what their children would want to be called themselves for the next 50 or 60 years.

Because an ancestor came over in the Mayflower is no reason for inflicting an innocent babe with the name of Hezekiah or Mehitabel. If grandpa and grandma had swum over, it wouldn't justify the crime. Yet generation after generation of people have been martyred by having been burdened with names as hideous as these for no reason than that it was a family name which should have been eliminated instead of perpetuated.

Equally to be avoided is the custom of naming children after famous people, thereby instituting an invidious comparison between them and those whose names they bear. All of us know George Washingtons who are serving terms in the penitentiaries, Aristotles who are morons, Carusoes who can't sing a note, Rockefellers who can't make a living, Cleopatras whose faces would stop a clock, overnight Fays and multitudes of Reginas who would never queen it over anything except the kitchen stove.

And surely something with boiling oil in it should be done to the parents who manufacture names by combining two or three names into an incongruous whole, and to those mothers who afflict their sons with their own maiden names which, added to their fathers' names, make them perpetual jokes.

So, parents, have a heart when it comes in naming the baby. Just remember he won't always be Cutikins in the cradle, so give him a good, honest, short, plain name of which he will not be ashamed.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

At Mayfair Bridge Club the other night, we were all pleased to see Pvt. Charles Mintz participating in the game. Charley is in the Engineer Corps and was stationed in New Guinea. An accident, however, has placed him in a cast and he is now receiving treatment at the Crile General Hospital in Cleveland but was given a furlough over the holidays.

I notice that Charley has not lost any of his cunningness in the play of a hand. He won the opening lead in the dummy with the ace, cashed the ace of clubs, went over to the diamond ten, ruffed a club, went to dummy with the diamond ace and ruffed another club. Now he ran all the diamonds. On the second last diamond you can see that West must either discard a heart or throw away the jack of spades or the king of clubs. Thus Mintz, with a nice squeeze play, made seven odd. The two club bid was a preparedness bid for no trump.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Bed-wetting is more often a winter than a summer "crime". It seems more reprehensible to the mothers then, for heavy bed-clothing can become disagreeably odorous and it is far harder to dry quickly at this season.

Yet a child must be at least 3 years old before one can expect control and it may not always be complete at that age. Usually, if the day-time training has been consistant and unemotional, the child acquires the ability to stay dry during the night hours, even without attention. But, remember, this is a "growing" ability, it has only partially to do with training and much more to do with the child's own physical capacities—as well as his own desires.

What every child should have is encouragement that he can stay dry, if not at this moment, then in some early future one. He should recognize that he himself must begin to exert some control and not depend entirely on being taken up at night. He must talk to himself when he goes to bed and tell himself that his little inner alarm clock will waken him if he tells it to do so. He must say to it, "Now" wake me up when I have to go to the toilet," and it will.

Parents can help by taking the child up at their own bedtime. But this should be enough. It is control the parents want, not just specially a dry bed. They can get that by presistent vigilence. But that does not solve the problem. They want the child to be able to wait until morning, not just keep the bed dry because they take him up often enough.

Parents should recognize, too, while it is inadvisable to forgive the child chronically and never expect any co-operation from him—it is just as bad to scold and humiliate him for conduct he cannot change. He may be too young for the control demanded of him. Better to preserve his confidence that this is only a temporary matter than to convince him that he is a bad child who wants to make his parents lots of trouble, and on and on. Children grow blunted to such harangues.

Give the child a generous diet, diminish the fluids at the night meal—if this does not cause the child to be angry or antagonized for then it does no good—and give him routine attention at bedtime. Then trust that nature and his own comfort in dryness will provide the other motives needed for control.

Our leaflet, "Bed-wetting," suggests other reasons why older children may continue this habit. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Canuck Captives In Reich Moved To "Safer" Areas

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Canadian prisoners of war in Germany are being moved into the interior to what the Germans call "a safer place," George Allen, director of the prisoner of war next-of-kin division of the war services department, said in an address here yesterday. Many camps at which prisoners were being held have been over-run by the Russian army, he told the Canadian prisoners of war relatives' association, Ontario section.

In Legion at 14

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(AP)—Fourteen-year-old Howard Francis Moser, a higher school student, yesterday had the distinction of being the youngest member of the American Legion in Brooklyn, possibly in the country. Moser was mustered out of the navy because of his age last September after serving five months.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Dear Dr. Brady:

I have never minded the cold and cannot remember ever having bundled up as most people do, since I was 12 years old. After my baby was born I wanted to take him out every day, and I did unless something prevented (never the weather). I've often taken him out in rainstorms and snowstorms and he loves it, but the neighbors, God bless them, for of course they do mean well, told me I am crazy to expose my baby like that and that I should think of myself anyway. But when I look at myself in a mirror and then at my fine healthy boy I'm glad I'm crazy. I believe we are healthier specimens than they could hope to be. I want to thank you for your fine teachings. My baby will be 23 months old Jan. 26. It is too bad more people cannot realize how beneficial open air and daylight are, even if the sun isn't shining as brightly as one could wish.

(MRS. S. E. W.)

Well, Ma'am, I can mention scores of reasons why people cannot realize that, among them, to take recent examples, the Health Officer of Los Angeles, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Dr. Chester W. Kurtz, associated professor of clinical medicine at the University of Wisconsin, Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, Milwaukee health commissioner,—I mention these reasons not because they are any more absurd than the conventional teachings of such "authorities" but because they happen to be the most recent items in my scrapbook.

These "authorities" spout their hackneyed advice year after year with little or no change from 1900 to 1945 so far as I can see. They conceal their ignorance behind such meaningless and undefined terms as "chilling", "drafts" "lowered resistance" and "the common cold." I say these terms are meaningless and undefined — I challenge these "authorities" or any medical or health authority to define precisely what he means when he uses any of these terms.

Any one who seriously believes illness is caused by chilling, draft, dampness, exposure, sudden change, insufficient clothing and all that sort of thing, necessarily bases his belief wholly upon theory, fancy or speculation and arbitrarily rejects all experience. Coddled fireside experts conjure up alarming pictures of what they think may happen to Uncle Phineas if he walks from his office to his club on a damp day without his rubbers on, and brush aside as trival and insignificant the experience of soldiers, hunters, sailors, woodsmen, surveyors, arctic explorers, men who know what exposure means but also know that save frostbite or freezing no illness of any kind follows it.

COMMODORE E. R. BROCK, CBE

Naval Officer Is Coming Here For Conference

Commodore E. R. Brock, CBE, commanding officer naval divisions, Toronto, is scheduled to visit this city next week in the interest of the Inter-Service Cadet Movement.

Chairman of the Dominion Inter-Service Cadet Committee, he will be accompanied by service representatives, Lt.-Col. A. Le Blanc, Sqdn. Ldr. W. J. Sargeant, RCAF; Lt. E. Gunn, WRCNS, committee secretary, and Cmdr. F. M. Jeffrey, OBE, RCNVR, staff officer Sea Cadets.

A joint cadet training program proposed by the three services will be the main topic of discussion when the committee meets with heads of departments of education. Also to come under review will be the work now being carried on by various cadet corps in western centres. Recommendations for the expansion in organization of these groups will also be discussed.

RECEIVES AWARD

Commodore Brock was recently presented with the Navy League of Canada "Award for Service" medal for his interest and co-operation in the work of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps. As commanding officer of naval divisions for Canada, Commodore Brock is responsible for the direction of training of 93 Sea Cadet Corps across the Dominion.

His visits will also include meetings with Navy League officials, Sea Cadet Corps commanding officers, and commanding officers of naval divisions to discuss local problems.

Commodore Brock will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club next Monday, his topic being "Highlights of Canada's Little Ships and Fighting Men." The Navy League of Canada, Northern Alberta division, is entertaining him and his party at luncheon at the Edmonton Club on Saturday.

Crash Victims

POINTE FORTUNE, Que., Feb. 8—(CP)—PO. J. C. Jackman of Dafoe, Sask., flying instructor, and a student pilot, were killed yesterday when their aircraft crashed into a snow-covered field near here from a height of 3,000 feet.

Change Spelling Of Place Names

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(CP)—Additions have been made by the three main American news services to the agreement they reached last April for use of a uniform style for the spelling of foreign place names.

One change in the agreed style, which is followed by The Canadian Press, is to indicate the umlaut in German names by the customary device of placing the letter "E" after the vowel affected. Names immediately in the news which thus will be altered are Kuestrin instead of Kustrin, Duesseldorf instead of Dusseldorf, Juelich instead of Julich.

This change was made because it was recognized that omission of the umlaut leads to mispronunciation, that the umlaut is an essential part of the word.

The 1944 agreement, which attempted to end confusion of readers arising from differing spellings of names in the war news, provided for the adoption in general of the style of the National Geographic Society with certain exceptions to conform to general usage.

City Undamaged

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(CP)—The Germans fled Krakow before they were able to do much damage to the ancient Polish university city, the Polish telegraph agency reported in a London dispatch yesterday. Krakow university itself and most of the historical structures of the city suffered no damage, the dispatch said.

McNaughton Defeat Said No Surprise To Troops in Field

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The Daily Express said today in a dispatch from a correspondent on the Western Front that the defeat of Gen. McNaughton in Monday's Grey North by-election didn't particularly surprise Canadian front-line forces.

It added: "Their reaction was: 'Now watch the pot boil.' And they are discussing the dispatch of reinforcements to Europe.

"McNaughton's popularity in the army has dwindled because of his attitude on conscription.

"Generally the Canadian troops are more interested in winning the war than speculating on a snap general election."

Two Fliers Killed In South Crash

CLARESHOLM, Alta., Feb. 8—(CP)—Two airmen were killed yesterday when their Anson training plane on a routine flight crashed just east of Claresholm, officials of No. 15 Service Flying Training school here announced. Next-of-kin have been notified and names of the fliers will be released shortly. Claresholm is about 30 miles northwest of Lethbridge.

—until his mother did this!

● His appetite was poor, he wasn't getting enough of the important food elements needed for health and vigor. Then his mother learned about Ovaltine which supplied the missing food elements, and "put him on his feet." Now you can't tire him out!

As a "protecting" food-drink, Ovaltine adds to a child's meals essential food elements most likely to be lacking. Ovaltine is thus an insurance against those food deficiencies that retard normal growth and development.

Ovaltine food-drink is an excellent source of the vitamins A, B, and D. It also contains almost all of the precious food elements necessary for health and top vitality, especially those needed for vitamin team-work, such as calcium, phosphorus, iron, protein and fuel-food elements.

Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of these essential food elements needed for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child eats poorly, is thin, nervous and under par, why not start giving Ovaltine regularly. Get Ovaltine today at your drug or food store.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—(CP)—The profit-taking having dried up considerably, the gold stocks were inclined to renew the advance today on the Toronto Exchange. Along with the industrials and the western oils they closed with gains. Base metal stocks registered mild weakness.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters)—Sentiment on stock markets today was more cheerful, encouraged by the reported progress at the Big Three conference, while the weight of money seeking investment imparted a firm trend to some sections.

Yesterday's late rally in industrials was resumed this morning with prospects of a post-war revision of the excess profits tax acting as a stimulant to some issues.

British funds again met investment support and were widely higher. British railways were dull. Japanese issues were supported on the latest Pacific war news.

Winnipeg Rye Futures Drop

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP)—Influenced by weakness at Chicago, rye futures prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange today skidded sharply below the previous close. Early shippers and United States houses offered good support in nearby May deliveries while locals and commission houses were on both sides of the market in the deferred July and October.

Trade was moderately active in domestic dealings but no export business was reported.

The close was 2 to 3½ cents lower with May at $1.24, July $1.18½ and October $1.10¼ to ½.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE

Richard Dowsett, charged before Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, KC, with two counts of forgery and one of uttering forged document, was remanded Thursday for trial at the next sitting of supreme court. Bail was set at $3,000.

The charges arose as a result of the passing of cheques, or the endorsing of same, at the Ponoka branch of the provincial treasury, last July, and involved the accountant, a woman, and another man, Robert A. Watson, the court was told.

Watson, at present serving six months in connection with the same case, was brought back to court both as a witness in the case and also to answer to a charge of illegal possession of liquor. On the latter count, he was fined $20 or 30 days, the term to run concurrently with the one now being served.

Avery Danard, Edmonton, charged with housebreaking, was remanded to stand trial at the next sitting of supreme court. The accused, owner of the premises occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweline, 97 street and 123 avenue, allegedly broke down the door about midnight. The family took refuge in the home of a neighbor for the remainder of the night.

A second charge, of assault, was withdrawn. Bail was set at $2,000.

Steve Iwaskow, pleading guilty to a charge of forgery and another of uttering forged documents, wanted the magistrate to put him back in the army. The accused, at present serving a term of imprisonment, was told the army didn't want him. On each count he was sentenced to six months, with terms to run concurrently.

Joseph H. Corbin, who said he came from Tofield on Saturday, pleaded guilty to intoxication, did not work because he stayed at home. He nodded when the magistrate asked if he allowed his father to do all the work. The penalty was $20 or 30 days.

Chicago Futures Register Losses

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Grain futures, weak from the start, suffered additional losses when commission house liquidation developed at mid-session today. Rye led the break and at times was off three cents a bushel.

Wheat was sharply lower, not so much because of heavy selling but because buyers backed away from the offerings.

At the finish wheat was 2⅛-2⅜ lower, May $1.61⅝. Corn was off 1-1⅛, May $1.11⅛. Oats were down 2⅛-2⅜, May 67. Rye was 3-3⅜ lower, May $1.12-$1.12⅛. Barley was off ⅞-1⅛, May $1.10¼.

Local Produce

BUTTER PRICES

No. 1, 34½; No. 2, 32½; No. 3, 30½.

CREAM PRICES

Prices for cream delivered to Edmonton creameries: Special grade, 44; No. 1, 42; No. 2, 37; off grade, 32.

All prices include government bonus of 10c to farmers.

EGG PRICES

Dealers now paying to country shippers: A large, 29; A medium, 27; A pullet, 21; grade B, 24; grade C, 12.

Wholesale to retail: A large, 37; A medium, 35; A pullet, 29; grade B, 31; grade C, 20.

Retail to consumers: A large, 44; A medium, 42; A pullet, 36; grade B, 38; grade C, 27.

The important development on this egg market is an increase in receipts of approximately 20 per cent. over the previous week. Improved road conditions are believed responsible for marketing stocks that had accumulated on farms during the week previous. Therefore this increase in receipts does not indicate a corresponding increase in rate of production. Weather has turned considerably colder and if this situation continues some effect on production is expected. Egg values remain unchanged throughout with tone of the market continuing very steady. Eight carloads of grade A large and A medium were exported in shell to Great Britain, two carloads were transferred to the Special Products Board for local drying and one carload of C's rolled to Winnipeg. Shipments to northern projects are on a much lighter basis than the previous week. Retail demand continues good.

POULTRY PRICES

The carlot movement of dressed poultry was more active than the previous week, three carlots of chicken and fowl with some ducks and geese were exported to the United States, one carlot of chicken and fowl rolled to Ontario and one car of chicken and fowl rolled to Prince Rupert. A fair quantity of chicken and fowl continues to come to market necessitating continued operation of processing plants on a light basis. Indications are that a fairly good clean-out has been made of frozen stocks of all kinds of poultry. Dealers continue to pay for live No. 1 chicken over 4 lbs. 19, under 4 lbs. 17, No. 2 chicken, 15. Fowl No. 1, over 5 lbs. 17, 4 to 5 lbs. 15, No. 2 fowl 10. Dressed poultry are as follows: MFA all weights, 27 MFB 26, grade B, 24, and C 20. Dressed fowl grade A, 22, B, 20, and C, 15.

Hog Production Better Grade In Last Year

Alberta swine production in 1944, as well as establishing an all-time output record, also showed increased quality during the year, according to an announcement Thursday by provincial department of agriculture officials.

Marketings for last year showed 79½ per cent in Grade "A" and "B", an increase of a little over 1½ per cent over 1943 gradings.

Alberta production of hogs in 1944 amounted to 2,982,000 head, an increase of 580,000 head over 1943 figures. Production requirements for 1945 call for another 2,982,000 head, maintaining 1944 production rate.

Stressing the need for continuation of high-grade production, department officials pointed out the Canadian Meat Board buys only higher grade meat for export. All bacon exports to Britain are forwarded through this channel.

Maintenance and improvement in carcass quality has been stressed on numerous occasions here by officials discussing post-war bacon export problems. It has been pointed out European countries, particularly Denmark, have in the past supplied the majority of bacon shipped to Britain.

If Canadian farmers are to hold the market they have developed in the war years, they must produce bacon of a quality that will prove more desirable than that produced in Europe.

North American Life Business Is At Record High

New business in 1944 of the North American Life reached a new peak of 40.9 millions, an increase over the record established in the previous year. The number of new policies was 14,162 for an average of $2,890 each in amount.

In commenting on this increase, Mr. Kilgour, President of the Company, said: "We can take justifiable pride in the volume of new business and in the increase in the number of individual policies and policyholders. These results are convincing evidence that life insurance occupies a continuing and increasing place in the confidence of the Canadian people."

There was an increase both in the number of policies held by policyholders and in the amount of business in force which now amounts to 335 million, a gain over the previous year of 25.5 million. There are now 128,955 policies in force averaging 2,595 each in amount. The termination rate was one of the lowest in the company's history and was one of the most gratifying features of the company's business.

PAYMENTS MADE

Payments to policyholders were 5.2 millions, consisting of death claims 2.2 millions, matured endowments 1.6 millions, dividends to policies .9 million, and annuities and disability benefits .5 million. There was a continued decline in the demand for surrender values.

Approximately 60% of the total payments made to policyholders and beneficiaries were made to living policyholders—the balance of 40% was paid in death benefits to beneficiaries under policies.

In commenting upon the mortality experience of the company, Mr. Kilgour said: "The long term mortality rates have been favourable and this has been noted in our premium calculations. War mortality has not been serious though it has caused an uptrend in the company's mortality rate. During 1944 our net death losses exceeded that of the previous year by nearly 30%. In actual figures the increase amounted to about $270,000.

COMPANY'S ASSETS

The company's assets held for the benefit of its policyholders totalled nearly 89.6 millions, increased by more than 7 millions in 1944. Of the invested assets, 49.5 comprise government guaranteed and municipal bonds. Total bonds and debentures now form 73.9% of all investments, stocks 4.5%, mortgages and note agreements 13.8% and policy loans 5.9%. The total invested in Victory Loans during the year was 9.2 millions, which exceeded the increase in the company's assets by more than 30% and exceeded net cash receipts from policyholders by more than 76%. This result has been possible only through a consistent policy of reinvesting in Victory bonds the major portion of proceeds of sales and maturities of other assets.

Total premium income aggregate 9.8 millions exceeding total policy payments by 4.6 millions, and this excess is reflected in the very substantial net increase of 5.2 millions in policy reserves which now total 72.5 millions.

Mr. Kilgour in reporting interest earnings of 4.15% for 1944, said: "During the war years, the decline in interest rates has been accentuated by the process of adding large volumes of government bonds at low yields, and through the repayment or conversion of existing higher yielding investments to those yielding a lower return.

Substantial contingency and investment reserves have been provided and a large free surplus account built up. The company's free surplus, along with our contingency and Investment Reserve, is 5.9 millions. In addition, the excess market values over the book values of our securities for which no credit is taken is substantially over 2 millions.

At Least Temporarily

Jap Fleet Bottled Up By Mine-Laying Raids

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—A Japanese battle fleet including four battleships, an aircraft carrier, six cruisers and many destroyers was bottled up at least temporarily recently in the Southwest Pacific after surprise minelaying raids by long-range Catalina Flying Boats, the air ministry announced last night.

The Catalinas, it said, have closed at least temporarily every important harbor in the Netherlands East Indies in the last few months and are exacting a heavy and increasing toll of Japanese shipping.

Australian Catalinas were used to lay mines by special request of the United States fleet, the ministry said. They were the only heavy aircraft employed for such work in the Southwest Pacific, and round trips of nearly 2,000 miles were considered a normal night's work.

The successful bottling up of the enemy battle fleet was accomplished at night after the air crews were briefed to mine an "important" bay, it was announced. Later reconnaissance showed the enemy fleet was at least temporarily penned in the bay.

Strength of SC Grows in Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit Association of Canada, said last night that his party is "expanding and interest is spreading," and declared the greatest indication of its strides in Ontario was the fact that "the CCF is following me around now with organized hecklers at all my meetings."

The heckling was hard to take sometimes, he said, "but every time one of these organized hecklers opens his mouth, he produces another point for me to drive home."

Mr. Low, former Alberta treasurer, said Social Credit proposals for reform of the political and the financial systems are designed to enable a smooth transition to be made from the present system of what he termed "political frustration and financial domination."

Reaches Manila

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—A Reuters News Agency dispatch from the Philippine capital said Gen. MacArthur arrived in Manila yesterday.

Plan Extension Special Service

Extension of the special placement service at the National Selective Service office here is contemplated in the near future, according to Arthur Wilton, Ottawa, employment adviser on vocational guidance and youth employment, National Selective Service.

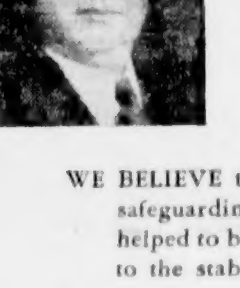

Accompanied by J. J. Lysecki, Winnipeg, supervisor of special placements, Mr. Wilton will confer here with provincial government education officials, and with University of Alberta authorities.

These conferences are being held to determine the extent to which services of the educational institutions and those provided by National Selective Service can be made reciprocal to achieve the greatest benefit to the physically handicapped and to the youth of the nation.

Request is being made by Selective Service to educational authorities to have cumulative records prepared of students' aptitude for vocational work, the data to be used in the placing of such students in industry. He said the utmost co-operation is being given by all educational and governmental organizations.

There will be 17 special placement branches of National Selective Service throughout Canada, two of which will be in Alberta. The offices in this province will be located at Edmonton and Calgary, and work in smaller centres will be administered from these centres.

WE BELIEVE—

We in the life insurance business believe that life insurance is a vital instrument of social service and has made a great contribution to the welfare of mankind.

WE BELIEVE that through the promotion of thrift and the safeguarding of the future of our policyholders, we have helped to build a self-reliant people and have contributed to the stability of our economy.

WE BELIEVE that the practices of life insurance have proven to be both equitable and just, and that on the whole our business has been conducted both wisely and efficiently.

WE BELIEVE that while rendering useful and indispensable public service, we have given honorable employment to a great body of workers both at home office and in the field.

WE BELIEVE that the agency system does not increase the overall cost of life insurance, and further that it is the only known system that has been devised to give the wide life insurance coverage that the people of our country have a right to demand.

WE BELIEVE that the permanent character of the business, with its long record of solvency, is due to the sound and scientific principles upon which it is founded, as well as to the high standard of management which it has received.

WE BELIEVE that life insurance funds, while being invested with primary concern for their safety, should be and are being usefully employed in the most effective way possible to further the country's interests.

WE BELIEVE that there is much ill-informed and unfair criticism of the business, and that it is the duty of the companies to give the public the facts, so that an intelligent judgment can be formed; further that the business should welcome valid and honest criticism in the interests of advancement and improvement.

WE BELIEVE that life insurance is a democratic business because its policyholders participate in the management of the companies through the directors they elect.

CURIOUS WORLD—Answer: Green, yellow, red

States $50,000 Cost of Killing Each Soldier

According to a British economist, it costs about $50,000 to kill a soldier, enemy or otherwise; in an earlier age, it cost Julius Caesar 75 cents to do the same thing.

This was an amazing fact brought out at Wednesday evening's meeting of the Edmonton Baha'i Assembly of the Baha'i World Faith by Emeric Sala, Hungarian-born author of the book, "This Earth One Country", and prominent student of world affairs. The meeting was held in the Masonic Temple library under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. J. Rimell.

PENSIONS CHEAPER

Mr. Sala, who has travelled extensively through most of the countries of the world and lived under eight different crowned heads, told a small but appreciative audience that it would be cheaper to grant each of the "enemy" soldiers a pension for the rest of his life.

"The 'enemy' would at least then have the money with which to purchase the things we produce," Mr. Sala said.

The speaker traced the development of government from the 14th century self-contained village, through the 18th century development of national economy that followed the discovery of the railway and its new transportation world, to the 19th century, when a world economy was the aspiration of national governments.

"We are economically interdependent," Mr. Sala declared. The problem in the post-war world, he said would be easily solved by following "welfare economy" rather than "power economy". The first he described as trade for equal gain and benefit, and the second, he illustrated with the remark "I have coal, and you haven't; I control it so you can't get it unless you pay for it." And on that pay, or tariffs he blamed friction between countries and the danger of future wars.

EQUALITY WANTED

Throughout his address, the speaker stressed "that people want equality, and when they don't get it, they resent it."

In referring to a future world, he stated that the Dumbarton Oaks agreement, while the most advanced plan developed in the present conflict, was not as advanced as the covenant of the League of Nations.

He declared that both plans failed because neither make provision for a compulso y court of justice or an international police force. "Unless we have a world government, representative and protective, we cannot have world justice and cannot hope for world peace," he said.

For people to become conscious of a whole world, he said, a new moral value was needed, and he declared that while religion has always been a great unifying force, it is also a dividing force in that it intensifies separation. He called for a new concept of the Biblical adjunct to "love thy neighbor".

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP)—Degaspe Beaubien of Montreal, immediate past president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, last night received a doctor of science degree, honoris causa, from the University of Manitoba at a special convocation held as part of the institute's annual meeting here.

Seek Institution For Delinquents

Suggestion that an inter-provincial institution for the rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents would be a solution to this problem, was made at the city council's finance committee meeting Wednesday by Ald. James H. Ogilvie, and a committee composed of Mayor John W. Fry and Aldermen Ogilvie and H. D. Ainlay will make representations to the provincial government in an effort to start negotiations for the creation of this institution.

Commissioner R. J. Gibb reported that plans for the improvement of the boys' detention home here were completed. He said this work would cost approximately $4,000, and that a further $2,000 would have to be spent to provide alternative accommodation for the city assessor's department.

Frank Drayton, child welfare officer, reported to the committee that there was little delinquency in Edmonton. He said the rate was slightly in excess of one boy per thousand of population.

Ald. Ogilvie said that the rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents was a very important matter. In suggesting the creation of an inter-provincial institution he said that probably one province alone did not have sufficient delinquents to warrant the establishing of such an institution, but the three prairie provinces might have sufficient to maintain a first-class institution and to provide the very latest in methods for the rehabilitation of delinquents.

War Stamp Drive Makes Progress

Record-breaking sale of war saving stamps in the Food and Allied Industries' current stamp drive were announced Thursday by Charles Simmonds, Edmonton, chairman of the Northern Alberta stamp sale committee.

In the first four and one-half days of the drive, which opened last Friday, otal of $44,447 in stamps was sold. Quota for Northern Alberta for a five-week period ending March 9 is $71,250. At the present rate of sale, more than $293,350 of the war stamps could be sold in Northern Alberta before the drive is concluded.

Mr. Simmonds said complaints had been received from the buying public that some stores were not actively "pushing" the stamp sale drive. In some instances, shoppers intending to buy stamps forgot to do so while making purchases, and storekeepers did not bring the drive to their attention.

He urged all storekeepers and others taking part in the drive to redouble efforts to keep the stamp sale before the buying public at all times.
